The list of Australian internationals' defection to European clubs just goes on and on ...

The stunning news that newly-named Socceroo captain Graham Arnold flew to Holland last week to trial with First Division side Roda is the last straw.

Arnold is certain to sign if financial terms are good enough.

"Arnie", arguably the most valuable player in the current national team will be a huge loss.

able in the Australian team that leaves on Monday for the international tournament in Jakarta under assistant national coach Les Scheinflug.

There is one particular way to put an end to this mass exodus of players — the "American solution".

Faced with the same problem of part-time players, the US Soccer Federation employed its World Cup squad as full-timers for the 12 months leading to the finals in Italy.

The USSF bought out the players' contracts from their clubs and paid them good enough wages to make sure they would not be lured by foreign clubs.

If the ASF is serious about Australia having any chance of qualifying for the next World Cup finals, it should immediately seek

Italian-backed clubs for Melbourne merger

BY GREG BLAKE

I believe two of Melbourne's strongest Italian-supported clubs will merge into one in the not too distant future.

Ailing Melbourne giant Brunswick Juventus and up-and-coming Thomastown, both currently in the Victorian State League, will amalgamate to become the new Italian force in Melbourne.

Despite official denials from both camps my sources tell me that the idea has already been discussed at board level at the two clubs.

Discussions have been put on hold pending the outcome of this year's championship.

Juventus still holds a slim chance of the title and a subsequent return to NSL ranks.

Should it miss in its push for the National League I believe the merger could go ahead as soon as late 1991.

One high-ranking Juventus official believes mergers between like-minded clubs are the only way some clubs will survive into the 1990s.

He believes the first few clubs to show the way will be the most successful clubs in Victoria in the long term.

Thomastown spokesman Tony Raponi admitted an unofficial approach had been made, but said that at this stage of the season his club was only interested in building up its ground and team for next season.

"Any merger talk is a long way down the track," he told me. "Any move like that would be a long-term thing."

Olympic Games squad in Europe

BY TED SIMMONS OF AAP

NATIONAL soccer coach Eddie Thomson made sure he will be on the winning side when his Olympic Games team played the Socceroos in a special pre-tour match in Canberra on Sunday.

Thomson selected both starting lineups in the challenge at the Australian Institute of Sport.

He left on Monday with the Olympic team for a five-match tour in Europe, while assistant national coach Les

EDDIE THOMSON

Scheinflug departs on Friday with the Socceroos for an international tournament in Jakarta.

The 18-member Olympic squad assembled at the AIS, last Thursday for three days of intense training before returning to Sydney late on the Sunday.

Australia has a difficult task to qualify for the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, having to win the Oceania qualifying round, then a second round involving Israel or a team from Europe.

Thomson has proposals to put to the Australian Soccer

Federation for another tour involving the Games team in March, as well as matches for the national youth and Under 17 sides.

"The benefit of going on the Asian tour was finding three players who will merit selection for the Olympic Games team," said Thomson.

"Between now and the Olympic qualifying rounds next year, Les and I will check every single person on each team, and constantly confer on the makeup of the national side."

Thomson believes it is more essential for him to travel at this stage with the Games team, because it will be in action before the Socceroos begin their campaign for the 1994 World Cup.

While competition between the players for a place in the first team is fierce, mystery still surrounds who will be appointed as captain.

Blacktown's Dominic Longo is the only player with previous leadership responsibility in captaining the national youth team last year, but Thomson could surprise with a different choice.

The decision will be announced shortly.

Inquiries are being made on the possibility of the Under 17 team playing in a tournament in Chile late this year or early January, as a leadup to the Oceania qualifying rounds in New Zealand in late January for the 1991 world titles.

Thomson and Scheinflug shared duties on the recent unbeaten tour of Asia by the Australian Youth team, which faces its test next month in Fiji when it tackles the Oceania qualifying round for the World Youth championships.

Les Scheinflug with previous Youth team captain and Olympic squad member, Dominic Longo.

Full match schedule for current tour

THIS is the match programme of the Australian Olympic team in Europe:

JOHN FILAN

- Friday, August 17: v Gillingham (English Division 4) at Gillingham (7.30pm local time).
- Sunday, August 19: v Dundee United (Scottish Premier Division) at Dundee (3pm).
- Wednesday, August 22: v Swiss Olympic team at Wettingen (7pm).
- Friday, August 24: v League of Ireland at Dublin (7.30pm).
- Tuesday, August 28: v Czechoslovakian

Olympic team (venue and kick-off time to be advised).

And, in case, readers are interested, these are the room pairings during the tour: Filan-Mautone, Dickinson-Zelic, Hasler (Horvat's late replacement)-Murphy, Longo-Slifkas, Vidmar-Georgakis, Gibson-Veart, Michalakopoulos-Brazzale, Hristodolou-Murray, Renfenes-Markovski.

Charlie Caruso is the tour leader; Eddie Thomson, of course, the coach; Mick Hickman, the assistant coach; Siri Kananga, the team doctor; Pedro Ruz, the physio and Frank Scicluna the gear steward.

The team is due back in Australia on September 2.

sponsors to put up the money to keep our best players in Australia.

As the national team is Australian soccer's most marketable unit, I am sure a sponsor or two could be found.

It wouldn't be cheap as we would be looking at a minimum of $1 million a year in salaries.

Utopia? Maybe, but there is no other way we can hold on to the cream of our soccer talent.

The second best thing would be the "Brazilian solution".

Brazil, like Australia, has to cope with most of its top players operating abroad.

To get over this, the Brazilian Federation insists on a one-month camp before every major international event like the World Cup, Olympics or South American Championship.

With the National League now played in the summer months it is more imperative than ever that the ASF makes absolutely sure that all of Australia's Olympic and World Cup qualifiers from now on are staged in July.

That would enable all the European-based players, whose domestic seasons end in late May and resume in early August, to be available for a one-month camp.

Because of the costs involved in the ASF "owning" the Socceroos, this would appear the best way out of our current dilemma — one that is bound to get worse as more and more European clubs realise that Australia is a cheap source of players.

One thing is certain: unless something is done — and done soon — about arresting the talent drain, we can forget about ever having a competitive national team.

Overseas trials force changes for Indonesian Socceroo tour

BY TED SIMMONS OF AAP

LES Scheinflug will return to the same road this week which took Australia to the 1974 World Cup finals in West Germany.

Scheinflug, the assistant national coach, will be in charge of the Socceros who leave on Friday to take part in the Indonesian Fifth Independence Day Cup in Jakarta.

"My first coaching tour outside Australia was to Jakarta in 1970 as assistant to then national coach Rale Rasic where we beat Indonesia 3-1," he said.

"The Indonesian victory was the start to building the Socceroo team which has so far been our most successful in World Cup competition.

"I will be back on the same road which I took 20 years ago and I hope it will ultimately prove to be just as successful."

Scheinflug and national coach Eddie Thomson have held a series of conferences on the team makeup and tactics to be used in Jakarta.

Thomson left on Monday with the Australian Olympic Games team for a five-match tour of Europe.

Four changes have been made to the original squad announced by the Australian Soccer Federation for Jakarta.

Charlie Yankos has retired and Gary van Egmond, Paul Trim-boli and Branko Milosevic are trialling with overseas clubs.

They have been replaced by Warren Spink, Andrew Zinni and Tony Spyridakos.

Van Egmond has been a late withdrawal to trial with Roda in Holland while Trimboli is already training with Glasgow Rangers and Milosevic is in Germany.

Kimon Taliadoros replaces the absent Graham Arnold and there is experience in Paul Wade, Mike Petersen and Tom McCulloch and defenders Alex Tobin and Robbie Hooker.

Anthony Franken, Andrew Bernal, Ernie Tapai, Spink, Jason van Blerk and George Jolevski have progressed through the youth national team. Spyridakos and Zinni are former Socceros while Robert Zabica, Mehmet Durakovic, Andrew Callinan and Tony Krslovic are the only newcomers to a touring side.

"There are a number of up-and-coming players in this side who will need international exposure and this tour gives us an opportunity to experiment," said Scheinflug.

"We're building a side for the next four years and I'm sure we'll be able to come up with a good combination. The long range plan is very important."

Zabica had an excellent series against Yugoslav tourists Hajduk Split earlier this year and will be retained as the number one keeper while the 23-year-old Callinan adopts the role of utility with his ability to play defence, midfield, stopper or fullback.

Ross Greer trials at Bristol

BY JOHN ECONOMOS

ROSS Greer, the 23 year old midfielder from Perth who was wanted by Sydney Olympic, left for England early this week to trial for Second Division club, Bristol City.

Olympic coach Mick Hickman flew to Perth a few weeks ago to watch Greer play for local side Athenia and was quite impressed with him.

He is a big, strong direct player and seemed keen to join up after speaking to Hickman.

Hickman told ASW: "The lad is a good worker and has some pace and is super-fit and dominant in the air."

Greer's contract expires next month. He has a $3,000 transfer fee on his head.

Juventus president Joe Mirabella conceded that he believed that mergers "could be the saviour of soccer in this state."

But he said officially that there had been no approach to or by his club by another Italian-backed team and that at this stage all his board was concerned with was the last five matches of the State League season.

I feel that talks are hush-hush because at this stage neither club wants to get its officials offside until full details of the amalgamation are determined.

Fawkner and Thomastown tried a similar move some years back without success after committeemen couldn't agree to certain compromises.

But should Thomastown and Juventus show the way — and I believe they will — it could set a precedent for the likes of Sunshine George Cross and Green Gully.

These two Maltese-backed clubs have discussed the possibility of a similar venture for some years.

Kiwis to face Chinese

CHINA will play two international matches on a four-game soccer tour of New Zealand later this month.

The Chinese will play New Zealand in Wellington on August 16 and in Auckland on August 24.

The tour itinerary also includes matches against provincial teams Otago and Taranaki.

China will play Otago in Dunedin on August 18 and Taranaki in New Plymouth on August 21.

Markovski, Seal, Jones join a lucky Marconi

BY LOU GAUTIER

OLYMPIAN John Markovski has become Marconi's first big signing for the new season.

Markovski, who will be a key player in the Australian under 23 team as it attempts to qualify for the Barcelona Olympics, signed a two-year contract with the 1989/90 minor premiers.

Marconi were able to secure Markovski for a very modest $12,500 as he had a ceiling clause in his contract with Melbourne Croatia.

Marconi becomes Markovski's fourth club in three years as he has previously play-

Socceroo debut against Torpedo Moscow at the Sydney Football Stadium in January this year.

Markovski, who has talent to burn, could really take off at Marconi under coach Berti Mariani.

Mariani is certain to improve Markovski's on-field work-rate and will get the best out of him, something previous coaches have failed to do.

The 21-year-old Markovski, who was the star of the Australian under 20 team in 1988 and 1989, has all the hallmarks of becoming a great player.

John Markovski

By going to Australia's Number One club, he should start fulfilling his promise.

Sydney and Melbourne Croatia club officials gather around David Seal (centre front), the Sydney Croatia striker who won the NSL Topscorer of the Year Award. Seal has been a prolific collector of goals on the Young Socceros Asian tour. The officials include Frank Busic (Syd Croatia), Jo Djuzel (Melb Croatia), Syd Croatia coach Tony Vrzina, and Michael Komadina.

ed for Preston and Sunshine George Cross.

Marconi have also snared talented young striker David Seal for the coming season.

Seal who was the NSL's leading goalscorer last season, is happy to be joining Marconi because he expects the Marconi atmosphere to be more beneficial to his career.

Marconi most certainly has lost Socceroo Graham Arnold, but has secured the no nonsense Mark Jones from Sydney Croatia.

The club badly needs reinforcements after losing Senad Glavovic, who has returned to Yugoslavia after a brief stint at the club last season, Matteo Colucci, Fred de Jong (in Holland with Fortuna Sittard) and Vince Colagiuri.

And, of course, the future of their greatest player of all, Zlatko Nastic, is still in doubt.

It has yet to be proven that his knee reconstruction will enable him to continue where he left off after being injured in his

Wolves devour Canberra Croatia

WOLLONGONG City scored a major upset when they defeated Canberra Croatia 2-1 at Brandon Park.

Previously unbeaten all year, Canberra Croatia were looking good for promotion to the National Soccer League, however they now trail Wollongong Macedonia by three points with five rounds to go.

The first half saw Canberra dominate territorially; however their forwards would not put away the chances that came to them.

Wollongong's defence also contributed to Canberra's lack of goals, as the entire backline had outstanding games keeping their forward line at bay for most of the match.

Canberra did however take the lead in the 35th minute, when Alan Reis scored from a free-kick after he was brought down just outside the area.

The turning point in the game came in the first ten minutes after half-time, when Wollongong struck twice through John Danzo.

The first came when Oldridge and McEvoy combined to give Danzo a shot at goal which he duly put away.

The second was a little luckier when Croatia defender Marcina, trying to set up yet another attack, had a crack at goal which

Warringah consolidates

WARRINGAH Freshwater continued their impressive form of late when they defeated Marconi 4-0 at Marconi Stadium.

In a one-sided game Warringah dominated for the majority at the match, not allowing the Marconi side any time on the ball when attacking.

However it did take Warringah a long time to find itself on the scoresheet when with only a minute to go before half time Versi and Iriate combined with the later slotting the ball past the goalkeeper.

The second half saw Warringah do as they please, and they added three more goals to complete the whitewash.

The second came from a near post corner, which was flicked in by captain/coach Glen Sterrey.

Warringah's third was scored by Giannone from 15 metres, after Grant Lee and Versi combined to put him through.

The last goal came via a short corner which Lee hit first time from the edge of the box and it went in after rebounding off the post.

Apia flag flying

Apia-Leichhardt's Ron Orsatti, acting president of the social club and soccer chairman, believes that the pride and goodwill of the supporters will lead to a big season for the club.

In late news, a meeting has been called at the club at 7.30pm on Friday to discuss the NSL season's programme with members and supporters.

The Social Club is to undergo extensive restructuring, to increase revenue and profits.

A group of people will form a committee to run the soccer club's affairs under the full control of the Apia Club Ltd.

Macedonia strong at Jensen Oval

Sydney Olympic transferred their home game with Sydney Macedonia to Jensen Park and were delighted with the hospitality extended to them by the Yagoona based club.

About a hundred supporters were on hand for the Saturday fixture and since most were from the local area the 4-0 win to Macedonia proved a popular one.

Sydney Olympic, now without their three Australian Olympic Games-squad members, Re-fenes, Georgakis and Hristodoulou, had no answer to the well-drilled Macedonia side, for whom Jani Cakovski was outstanding in his attacking full back role.

Scott Gilbert claimed only one goal on the day, but squandered several other chances as Olympic remained on the back foot for a major part of the game.

Jorge Fernandez gave his side the lead 20 minutes. Scott Baillie crossed from the right to Spirovski who back-heeled the ball in the path of Fernandez who netted for his first goal of the season.

Five minutes later Gilbert was the beneficiary of a move started by Baillie and carried on by Fernandez, the through-ball beating an offside ploy and leaving Gilbert to put the ball away from just inside the area.

Theo Kotsias helped himself to the goal of the game in the 54th, with Olympic being rarely sighted in Macedonia territory.

Antoine Avellino, who had every little to do all afternoon, threw the ball out to Cakovski who sent Fabian Kadric off down the left wing.

The combination of Sasha Spirovski and Kadric bore down on the Olympic goal, but then switched play to the far side where Kotsias cut in and angled in his drive from 15 metres.

Kadric made it 4-0 in the 87th, after getting a ball from Maleski, and took the ball half the length of the field, before beating Gary Meier with a cheeky piece of finishing.

Macedonia showed once again how devastating they can be at Jensen Park, while for Olympic there is very little left for them in this

AS at many other grounds on the day swirling winds did not help teams to play flowing soccer.

Newcastle's BHP Austral and Rockdale were no exception and errors were to be blamed for at least two of the goals in Newcastle's 2-1 win at Hurstville Oval.

Keith Warren did not have one of his better games and it was his lapse of concentration which led to the first goal for the Austral side.

Brett Porter caught Warren in possession and not in full control of the ball, stealing away with his prize and putting Austral a goal up in the 13th minute.

Craig Carter was in top form at the other end and denied the speedy Rockdale strikers, especially livewire Bruno Beddoni, on many occasions.

There wasn't a lot of attractive play by either side in build ups, but Rockdale got their reward in the 83rd minute by pushing more players forward and drew level with a Beddoni goal.

Some frenzied activity in the Austral penalty area resulted in an indecisive clearance to the feet of the tall marksman who planted a top shot from 15 metres past the unsighted Carter.

Rockdale failed to secure the point they had worked for and allowed Newcastle to regain the lead only a minute later, apparently celebrating their success prematurely. Bobby Naumov floated over a corner from the left and Howard Tredinnick latched onto the ball to beat Warren with a typical piece of captain's determination.

As always Tredinnick led by example and is enjoying his best season to date with the Novacastrian club.

A lack of fire power up front could have cost Newcastle another win, but the all round commitment was enough in the final analysis to claim both points.

ROCKDALE-ILINDEN: Warren, Wilson, Segreto, Naumovski, Buchanan, Willis, Markovski, Ralevski, Lavond (Campbell 70), Beddoni, Porter.

BHP AUSTRAL: Carter, Bowen, Jones, Maier, Boogaard, Ironside, Tredinnick, Naumov, Bailey (McWhirter 72), Miletic (Calmakakis 55), Porter.

Ned Zelic skippers Olympic tour team

BY GRAHAM COOKE

CANBERRA Croatia defender Ned Zelic moved up to the highest level of soccer in Australia on Sunday — and passed the test with ease.

Turning out for the Australian Olympic team against the senior Socceroos in a training game at the Australian Institute of Sport, he was one of the most outstanding players on the field, scoring in the Olympians' shock 2-0 win.

Now experts are beginning to wonder how long it is before Zelic, who has been named Olympic captain for the five-match tour of Europe which began this week, receives his full senior call-up.

The Canberra teenager was typically modest about his performance afterwards. "Playing with these guys is just brilliant, and it makes you rise above yourself," he said.

"I was pleased with the goal. Eddie Thomson (coach) asked me to get into midfield and have a go as much as possible and it came off."

On the captaincy he said it was a happy surprise. "I thought there were others in line and I really didn't expect it."

"We were coming out to a training session and Eddie took me aside and asked me how I'd feel about being captain — what could I say?"

"This is the first time I've captained any side but he stressed I should play my normal game and not let the responsibility get me down."

Harry glum over Monaro 1-1 draw

BY GRAHAM COOKE

INTER Monaro coach Harry Williams, rarely a man to be roused, had some stinging criticism for the standard of ACT referees supplied for the NSW League after his team's 1-1 draw with Sutherland at the Marco Polo Ground on Sunday.

"After today you can see why players get injured; why players take matters into their own hands, and why games deteriorate," he said.

"It is essential the NSW Soccer Federation takes a long, hard look at this.

"My main criticism today is that the referee, Dave Watson, was inconsistent in many of his decisions, but it is not just him.

"For weeks now I have been unhappy with the refereeing. I have spoken to other State League coaches and they feel the same.

"But nobody has said anything — now I think it is time we stopped suppressing it."

Whether Watson's

fault or not, the game had little to recommend it. The goals came in one 30-second flash in the first half, but for the rest it was a rugged, generally unattractive clash between Sutherland's long-ball down the middle and Monaro's slower (sometimes painfully so) build-ups.

Monaro took the lead after 19 minutes. Toplica Popovich, normally a defender but drafted into the forward line, had a run into the penalty area illegally ended by Robert Sellar and Luche Djordjieski struck a shot home from the penalty spot.

Sutherland from the kick-off Sutherland worked the ball forward and Darryl Sharp collected it on the edge of the penalty area and fired a shot past Steve Hoszowski.

Hoszowski, having one of his best games of the season in goal, could nevertheless have cost his side a point with his only mistake shortly after half time.

The ball was pumped forward and he misjudged it, but Angelo Ambrosino was able to thrash it away.

Two minutes later the goalkeeper was back to his confident best, moving out smartly to save from Harry Christodoulou with Grant Bard lurking.

Monaro was having difficulty in stringing passes together. Its sweetest move of the half, a combination between Pepe Lopera, St George's star Oswaldo El-Ali bites the dust at the behest of the Wollongong Macedonia keeper. He then scored from the spot.

Njegosh and Arsenije Popovich, ended in the offside trap.

INTER MONARO: Hoszowski, Grassick, B. Monterosso, Bryant, Arthur, Djordjieski (Danile 66), Carbone (Lopera 75), Ambrosino, N. Popovich, A. Popovich, T. Popovich.

SUTHERLAND: Dart, Edmunds, Sellar (Enser 36), Terry, Biscay, O'Shea, Christodoulou, Hutcheon, Sharp, Bard, Lenny.

REFEREE: Dave Watson. CROWD: 111.

N. Shore's valuable point

BY

PAUL GOODWIN

WINDY conditions at Arlington Oval meant that good football was at a premium and the two sides, North Shore United and Canterbury-Marrickville, managed a 1-1 draw, with neither scoring classic goals.

Nick Oustambasidis almost opened the scoring when he cut the ball back from the left byline in the 3rd minute and goalie Michael Blanco pushed the ball past the far post.

Michael Lardis headed over the bar in the 10th from another Oustambasidis cross, before North Shore took the lead.

The energetic Mark Nile won possession on the half way line and burst upfield, sending in a low cross which Dragan Pupovac could not hold cleanly.

Peter Norman managed to collect the loose ball after a valiant attempt by Pupovac to make good his mistake and buried the opportunity at point blank range.

Coach Roberto Viera put new steel into his Berries side in the second half and Northern Shore was kept busy at the back.

WOLLONGONG Macedonia moved further ahead in the State League 1st Division competition when they defeated St George 2-1 at St George Stadium.

A late penalty goal sealed the win for the Wollongong side and coupled with Canberra Croatia's loss to Wollongong City now gives them a break on the rest of the field.

Wollongong started off on the right note when in the 15th minute Tony Morley, the former England international, struck a fierce 25 metre dive which the St George goalkeeper could not handle and Graeme Fletcher picked up the loose ball to slot home from close range.

St George struck back quickly though from 30 metres to signal Canterbury's period of intense pressure.

Spiro Hantzis got away down the left side in the 60th and crossed smartly, where Michael Lardis headed in the equalizer inside the 6 yard area.

North Shore had one more real chance to regain the lead in the 86th minute.

Lee Sutherland, Neal Hunter and Glenn Jeffery converged on the Berries' goal with Jeffery's shot the last one to be deflected away.

Lardis headed over the 89th as each side began to realize, like their opponents, that perhaps a point was quite satisfactory.

It was not a game for the purist, but the players worked hard to get something going and gave a genuine performance.

NORTH SHORE UNITED: Blanco, Booth, Gillan, Pierce, Crookes, Bradley (Ferguson 70), Sutherland, Norman, Nile, Jeffery, Hunter.

CANTERBURY-MARRICKVILLE: Pupovac, Adamou, Sentas, Kalogeras, Hantzis, Divljak, Godzik, B. Radman, Lardis, Mellisourgos (Petrus 72), Oustambasidis.

REFEREE: Alex Spiroski.

Demons improve

BLACKTOWN

City eased their relegation worries when they accounted for Sydney Croatia 4-1 in their midweek clash.

Having to overcome an early setback when Sydney Croatia scored through Andrew French in the sixth minute, Blacktown dominated proceedings, never giving the Sydney Croatia team a chance to play by continually chasing and hounding the Croatian ball player.

Blacktown for the first time this year used the whole field when in possession, playing good football at times.

As a result all their goals were from moves from either wing by using the space out wide and giving the forwards the necessary room in the middle to be able to put the goals away.

Goals to Suman (2), Gibson and Maloney who has now scored in all of his three games, were just reward for a good allround performance by the Blacktown City team.

BLACKTOWN CITY: Mautone, Longo, Lees, Langan, Maloney, Comerford, Connolly, Mason, Gibson, Suman, Rogers (Brockbank)

SYDNEY CROATIA: Kalac, Jones, Zizic, Popovic, Babic, George, Pillemmer, Stanton, French, Gomez, Devecchia.

Southern Districts heads close promotion race

SOUTHERN Districts put paid to Rosebery in a hastily arranged deferred fixture at the Sydney Athletic Field on Thursday night.

BY PAUL GOODWIN

Rosebery's Under-19 side had brought the sensational unbeaten run of Districts to an end the previous night, but the senior side had no answer to the team leading the competition, who won 6-0.

Aytec Gene and Hugo Gimenez hit the spot in the first half, Ugher Taskin grabbed two, Leo Ulloa one and Birol Sertbas took his personal tally for the season to seven with another well struck penalty.

Three days later and back at Ernie Smith Reserve, the team found Campbelltown too much of a handful to take both points and with Greg Woodhouse in scintillating touch, collected a single point from a scoreless draw, in front of 850 excited fans.

The dropped point was not the problem it could have been as Dulwich Hill Madeira came unstuck at Erskineville Oval, going down 3-1 to Portuguese rivals Petersham Lusitanos.

The gap has widened now to four points and the catch-up game with Manly tonight at Cromer is one which Dulwich Hill must win to stay in the race. They would then need to remain unbeaten and leave their best effort for the final game with Southern Districts.

Petersham took the lead on Sunday through a Frank Speranza penalty in the 32nd minute, but Madeira levelled in the 62nd thanks to Peter Dameski.

Petersham managed to regain the lead when Darren Stephenson nodded in after a Speranza corner, which created panic stations in the goalmouth, before Stephenson put the ball in the net after it had twice rattled the bar in the 70th minute.

Speranza made it 3-1 a minute later following up a David Batten shot which had been partially cleared.

Waverley defeated Auburn-Yugal 2-0 at Mona Park, with Peter Treacey getting the first in the 27th after intercepting a Michael Apanian pass intended for his 'keeper Pinto and Barry Walker scoring from 16 metres in the 65th in a quick counter-attack.

Fairfield got a valuable 2-1 win at Orange, scoring first with Jonathon Langan and later with Alberto Arbelo, before a 40 yard Mark Rooke shot pulled one back for the Waratahs.

Jason Sinclair rattled the woodwork in the closing stages to threaten the loss of one point for the visitors.

Central Coast got two goals in the last twenty minutes to beat Rosebery 2-1 at the Marks Field on Sunday.

The home side had gone in front with a Nelson Desousa goal, but could not hang on against a hard-working Coast unit.

Andrew Ollier equalised and Matthew Garland grabbed the winner with 10 minutes to spare.

Mount Druitt's good run came to an end when the now flying Gladesville toppled them 2-0 at Popondetta Park.

Bernie Voloder put the 'Mitre 10 Bears' one up in the 35th, when put through by 20 year old former Melita junior Jeff Kelly. Kelly himself made it two in the 75th, latching onto a Voloder cross, for his second goal in a season which has seen him make big strides.

Manly and Granville-Chile staged a dour struggle at Cromer Park with a 2-2 scoreline at the finish.

The visitors hit the lead in the 15th when Cristian Navarro took advantage of a defensive mix up. Manly put away a penalty when Tom Gavin came down in the 44th minute, Peter Falconer doing the honours.

Although Andy Ferris was under a close watch by Graham Walton and Mark Butler, Granville managed to regain the lead, despite lacking their usual South American flair.

It was Navarro again who slammed in a ball from the left in the 52nd minute, but Falconer once more put away a penalty to bring his side a point. Rivera hit the bar for Granville late in the game while at the other end Philip Moss, who had an otherwise solid game, missed a chance to seal things for the home side.

Loan player scheme falls flat on face

BY PAUL GOODWIN

THE State League First Division season ends on September 16 and it is certain that there will be no time — and indeed no desire — to pursue a top four series in 1990.

Due to wet weather in recent weeks the Second Division programme has been extended to September 2, to be followed by semi-finals and a grand final.

Since the National League competition is scheduled to get under way on October 5, there will hardly be time for some players to catch their breath.

Players on loan from NSL clubs to State League outfits are now training again with their parent clubs, although some are still featuring in State League games right up until the last possible moment.

Parramatta Melita Eagles are in full training, which means four solid nights a week training and the arrangement between Melita and Southern Districts in regard to Aytec Gene and Hugo Gimenez leads to a pretty hectic schedule for those players.

They figure in Mike Johnson's plans to capture the title and with it promotion to First Division.

In addition, Johnson will want the players in his side for the championship series later in the month.

Over at Polonia, Marshall Soper is expected to carry on for the remaining half dozen fixtures, while Greg Brown, who was with Wollongong Macedonia, has returned to Melita after an agreed 10-match stint.

The Avala defensive duo of Washington Gonzales and Alfredo Barrios have both finished their State League engagements.

A pity for coach Cliff Pointer, who now has to completely reshape his defence to achieve results and thus satisfy a demanding Avala public.

Up at BHP Austral the Sydney Olympic pair of Gary Phillips and Robbie Ironside are committed until the end of the season.

But Glenn Sterrey, coach of Warringah Freshwater, is uncertain whether he can retain the services of Grant Lee, also from Olympic, for the same period.

Graham Arnold has played his last game for Sutherland and is trialling for Roda JC in Holland.

There does appear some inconsistency about the availability of these loan players, which cannot be good for the credibility of the teams of the State's premier competition.

One wonders what became of the requirement that all players contracted by NSL clubs to State League teams continue to play until the last match of the season for their adopted club.

The original idea that the inclusion of National League players in some State League Division One sides would boost playing standards and increase the prestige of the competition has hardly been a total success.

Any gains made by having more attractive State League sides have been negated by the erratic strength of the sides fielded by a number of NSL under 23 clubs, which have, in varying degrees, used the State League competition to give raw youngsters much needed experience throughout the campaign.

The quality of the line-ups has been erratic, which makes it difficult for clubs to tackle vital games confidently.

It has also been impossible for existing State League clubs to promote their games as the quality of the opposition has so often been an unknown factor.

With promotion and relegation at stake, many clubs are far from satisfied with the consistency of performance by the big name clubs, using the State League to blood youngsters.

The exceptions have been St George which has always played to a high standard and has also been willing to advertise its own games and Wollongong City which is making great strides as the season wears on.

Few, if any, club officials or coaches in the State League have any faith in the experiment and while they welcomed the opportunity to strengthen their sides, the format of the twin-conference First Division met with universal condemnation.

Crowds have been down, despite the apparent better quality players on show.

The comparable size of Division Two attendances shows that the public prefers a series confined to first grade teams, not withstanding the reduced level of skill.

Heidelberg tops — but Croydon won't falter

BY DAVID BULLOCK

HEIDELBERG U.A. 4 FRANKSTON P. 1

HEIDELBERG remained league leaders with a conclusive 4-1 victory over 17th placed Frankston Pines, though a 14-1 scoreline could easily have been the final result.

During the afternoon's proceedings, Heidelberg hit the woodwork on four occasions, while Frankston keeper Lee Davies denied Jim Tsirikas three times and Garry McDowall twice with brilliant goalkeeping.

Ten minutes into the first half, Frankston took a shock lead through Carlos Galivan who punished a defensive error from Alan Scott in clinical fashion.

Heidelberg became a ruthless unit after the goal, but squandered many chances, until Stuart Stevenson finally brought the home side back on level terms five minutes before half time with a crisp shot.

Heidelberg finally took the lead 8 minutes into the second half when Stuart Cannell scored from the penalty spot after Stuart Stevenson had been brought down in the area.

Stuart Stevenson, Heidelberg's best player on the day made no mistake in the 77th minute, hitting a fine shot past the defiant Frankston Keeper Davies.

With ten minutes remaining, Heidelberg increased their lead through skipper Garry McDowall who headed home from close range after an Alan Scott corner kick.

NORTHCOTE 1 ST ALBANS 1

Northcote City had to settle for a share of the points after completely dominating the entire match against St Albans.

Northcote had earlier in the week dispensed with the service of coach Roy McLaren and replaced him with Paul Harris, who will carry on till the end of the season.

Neil Mills gave Northcote the lead one minute into the second half when he made no mistake getting on the end of a Pedro Ramos free kick to plant it in the back of the net.

St Albans got back on level terms in the 63rd minute, when Darko Basara swooped on a defensive error to fire his shot into the back of the net.

Northcote continued to surge forward to no avail, as St Albans held on grimly under the constant pressure applied.

GREEN GULLY 3 CAULFIELD 1

Green Gully bounced back from their shock exit in the Dockerty Cup last week at the hands of 3rd Division Bentleigh Greens to score a convincing 3-1 victory over Caulfield City.

The match was an even contest, until Aki Kotzamichalis gave Gully the lead in the 39th minute.

Kevin Harrison nodded on a free kick in the area and as the ball spilled free, Kotzamichalis was on hand to scramble the ball over the line.

Caulfield bounced back immediately when a free kick was awarded against Kotzamichalis who had handled the ball.

Kalegeros stepped up to take the kick just outside the area and his shot on goal went sailing into the back of the net with tremendous force.

Ten minutes into the second half, Gully regained the lead when Tommy Daly layed off a pass to Kevin Harrison who, with only the keeper to beat, coolly rounded him and put the ball into the back of the net.

Five minutes from full time, Harrison put the match beyond Caulfield's grasp.

Collecting a pass from Daly, he beat the keeper with a thundering shot to bring up his 15th goal of the season.

BOX HILL 0 MORWELL FALCONS 2

Morwell Falcons scored a comfortable 2-0 victory over bottom of the table Box Hill, at Wembley Park, to maintain their challenge for a top four berth.

Gordon Scott, who had scored four goals at the same venue six days prior in a Dockerty Cup fixture, put Morwell ahead 20 minutes into the first half when he punished a fumble by Box Hill keeper Tony Lyras, who misjudged a cross from the right.

Scott seized on the opportunity to fire his shot into the back of the net.

Fifteen minutes later, Morwell went further ahead when Effie Casar collected a loose ball inside the area and his shot on goal was squeezed through a group of players and into the bottom right hand corner.

Morwell continued to pressure the home side for the remainder of the match, only to get no rewards for their efforts, while Box Hill still without a win this season, fought on doggedly until the final whistle.

Morwell's bubbly coach Bobby McLachlan was quite content with his teams performance and went on to say after the match, "After the first 25 minutes, the match was never in doubt."

"I would have liked a few more goals, but full credit to Box Hill, they never gave up," said McLachlan.

B. JUVENTUS 1 ALTONA GATE 1

Altona Gate after looking very ordinary early in the match, can consider themselves very unlucky not to have come away from Middle Park with the two points.

The 1-1 result finally ended Brunswick Juventus's dream of NSL promotion in 1990, as they now find themselves four points adrift from Heidelberg and Croydon with only four rounds to be played.

Altona went into the match without leading scorer Gary McNullen and midfield play-maker Vlado Tortevski, both serving one match suspensions, and this looked to have given Juventus an upper hand as they attacked right from the opening whistle, while Altona were looking very lethargic.

Charlie Egan put Juventus ahead 15 minutes into the first half when he scored after collecting a neat pass from the right from Steve Smith.

Suddenly Altona Gate clawed their way back into the match and made their opponents look second rate with fluent one touch possession.

It came as no surprise when Altona finally levelled up the score late in the first half.

Goran Georgievski made a enterprising run down the right and his cross was sweetly headed into the back of the net by Zoran Todorovski, past a hapless Peter Lauments.

Altona continued to dominate in the second half, but were unable to find the back of the net, while Juventus had no answer to the very underated Western Suburbs outfit.

RINGWOOD 1 ALBION 3

After an even first twenty minutes, Albion

Celebration time for Andy Humble of Croydon and his coach Ian Dobson after Humble scored the first goal of the game against Heidelberg.

Turk Gucu completely dominated the remainder of the match to run out easy 3-1 winners over lowly Ringwood City.

26 minutes in the first half, Albion opened up their account with a brilliant goal from Ayhan Patsaman who sissor kicked the ball into the back of the net from 4 yards after a corner kick had been floated in from the left by Peter Kadlicek.

In the 58th minute, Albion made it 2-0 when Willie Raynes floated in his corner kick from the right.

Don MacLeod nodded the ball across the goal mouth and Patsaman slipped in behind the defence to head home from close range to score his second for the afternoon.

Ringwood received a penalty, two minutes from full-time when Micky Maguire was brought down by Tyrone James and Steve Douglas inside the area.

Maguire took the resulting penalty and made no mistake, blasting the ball past Albion Keeper, Ernie Toth.

With only seconds remaining, Raynes sent a cross from the right to Andrew Freund who hit a sizzling volley into the roof of the net, giving Ringwood keeper Colin Blackley no chance.

Albion coach, Ian Wallace was satisfied with the result.

He said: "We never gave up, we didn't take all our chances and I think 5-1 would have been a true reflection on the game," while Ringwood coach, John Corvan simply stated, their never say die challenge for the State League title with a conclusive victory over Fawkner.

They went into the match without player/coach Ian Dobson, who was nursing a broken arm after a collision in a Dockerty Cup fixture last weekend.

Fawkner got off to a dream start straight from the kick-off, when a penalty was awarded against Andy McMillan for a foul on Bladojevic. Fawkner player/coach, Claude Lucessi stepped up to the spot and made no mistake with his shot.

Fawkner could not sustain their lead, as Croydon hit back in the eighth minute.

A free kick by Nick Van Egmond just outside the Fawkner area was curled around the wall and David Klepac beat goalkeeper Zoran Nikitovic with a towering header.

Croydon went on full assault, and in the 23rd minute they took the lead when Lucessi passed poorly from a free kick and, in the ensuing scramble, the ball went to Andy Humble who crossed for Van Egmond to head home from close range.

In the 70th minute Croydon made sure of their victory when Klepac beat two defenders and sent a stinging shot into the back of the net to mark his 12th goal of the season.

MOOROOLBARK 1 THOMASTOWN 0

"Were on a roll and starting to gain confidence," were the words of a jubilant Mooroolbark coach, Graham French, as his side continued their late season surge with a comfortable 1-0 victory over a lack-lustre Thomas-

Mooroolbark controlled the match right from the outset with pressure football and never allowed the opposition any space whatsoever to create any scoring chances.

The match-winning goal came 35 minutes into the first half when a clever side-footed pass from Barry Burton was met by David Brogan who drove his shot at the far post into the back of net.

French summed up Thomastown's performance after the game by simple saying: "I thought they were very disappointing. I know they have injuries at the moment, but haven't we all been in the same position this season?"

Croydon coach Ian Dobson said after the win: "At this stage of the year the two points are important obviously. There are four games to go now and at least we are level on points with Heidelberg."

"If it goes down to goal averages, we won't win because Heidelberg have scored far more goals than we have. Good luck to them if that's the case."

Ernie Merrick returns the fire . . .

Fair go given to Paul Lewis

BY GREG BLAKE

THE normally placid Ernie Merrick has come out with guns blazing to defend himself and the Sunshine George Cross club in the face of criticism from former Georgie striker Paul Lewis.

In a recent edition of ASW, Lewis, now with Heidelberg and the current Victorian State League top scorer, suggested that he wasn't treated as fairly as he might have been by his former club and that coach Merrick had "blasted" him unjustly in front of team mates.

Merrick, not usually prone to biting back in the face of criticism, said he didn't like "being negative" but told ASW that Lewis' story was "slightly twisted".

"Look, I'm not angry at him, just a little disappointed," Merrick told ASW.

"He's gone public with that same story once before and I refuse to accept hearing it twice.

"It's not so much for me as much as the club.

"He's given the club a serve and it deserves the right of reply."

Ernie Merrick

Merrick said Lewis had been given a "fair go" by Sunshine George Cross and that Lewis was as much to blame for his demise at Skinner Reserve than anyone else.

The George Cross coach admits that he did "blast" his striker on a single occasion.

"But even that wouldn't have been so severe had he not started blaming other players for his own form," Merrick explained.

"We believe that at no time did he take responsibility for his own performances.

"Several chances he had had and missed in those early games were one-on-ones with the goalkeeper.

"So I just couldn't accept him blaming other players for his lack of goals."

Merrick said that up until the time of his run-in with Lewis the striker had scored just one goal in five league and one cup game for the season.

And he added that despite the blow-up between the pair he still wasn't aware that it had a direct effect on Lewis deciding to leave Skinner Reserve.

"When he told me he was leaving he told me that he believed that the spectators disliked him and that had made it hard for him to stay at the club," says Merrick.

"He never mentioned that it was because of me.

"The news that he wanted to go came only a couple of weeks after being dropped for the first time ever by the club."

Merrick says he tried to talk Lewis into staying until the end of the 1989/90 season but defended his decision to publicly blast his former player.

"If a coach cannot do his job and be constructive — with criticism — then there is no point in having a coach," he told ASW.

"As for Paul saying that he didn't get a fair run at the club, that is not quite correct.

"When he came to the club his was the highest ever transfer fee paid by the club.

"His contract was the most lucrative ever signed at the club.

"He received more than double what some of the top players were on and his nicely worded contract included $100 for every goal scored.

"And that included a clause that he was to take penalties!

"I wish Paul well and I hope he manages to finish top scorer in the Victorian State League.

"I have nothing against him but I am upset that he is willing to take shots at George Cross."

Merrick also admitted that the club had "almost certainly" lost skipper Shaun Parton to Preston for the new season.

John Campelj is transfer-listed and goalkeeper Sean Keogh is still negotiating for 1990/91.

On the plus side Sunshine has signed Queensland midfielder Troy Craney from the AIS as well as Scottish-born striker Derek Hunter.

Musical chairs in Victoria

BY GREG BLAKE

THE days of clubs setting up super-successful State League dynasties are all but over.

As the State League competition heads into the 1990s the chances are that any Victorian club which exerts supreme dominance over the rest of the competition for an extended period of time is more than likely to make the step up to NSL level.

That depends, of course, on the ASF/NSL's ruling on promotion and relegation.

Those clubs being lost to the local competition (and often quickly regained) suggest the one-off champion will become the rule rather than the exception.

All the genuine power teams of recent decades have gone on to degrees of NSL glory.

South Melbourne Hellas, the team of the 1960s and always a danger in the 1970s, is now an NSL giant.

Footscray JUST (now Melbourne City JUST) dominated the State League in the early 1970s and went on to spend 12 years in the national competition.

Essendon Lions/Croatia ruled the late 1970s and, as Melbourne Croatia, have gone on to become an NSL force.

And Green Gully, the last of the true Victorian power teams, completed a hat-trick of titles between 1981 and 1983 before moving into the NSL.

Recent seasons have seen State League champions rise and fall in quick succession.

Croydon, after winning back-to-back titles in 1985 and 1986, years this state's seven best clubs were on NSL duty, crashed to 11th in 1987.

Maribyrnong Polonia crashed after its 1987 title win and 1988 champion Heidelberg was whisked back to the national competition in double quick time.

Since the formation of the NSL at the end of 1976 the trend of clubs to dominate a certain era has tapered off dramatically.

1989 title winner

BOBBY McLACHLAN

Morwell Falcons are another case in point.

Despite coming so very close to NSL promotion last year, Morwell has fallen well and truly back with the pack in 1990.

Certainly, some personnel changes have hastened that crash, but coach Bobby McLachlan insists that his side "isn't far away" from the barnstorming form which took the club rocketing past Brunswick Juventus to a dramatic late season championship win.

Not one prone to making excuses, McLachlan believes that the combination of unusually long season, injuries and losses of two key players and just sheer bad luck has robbed his club of the chance of staying up with the elite.

"I don't believe it had any effect," says McLachlan in dismissing the theory of a championship 'hangover'.

"But I do believe that maybe people expected more of us (this year) after we achieved (last year) what many thought we couldn't.

"I certainly don't believe that we are also-rans this year.

"But there's been a fine line between winning and not this season.

"We've only won seven games but we've drawn nine and on many occasions it's been close.

"Things ran for us last year and that just isn't happening this season.

"Last season we didn't always play better than our opponents but we managed to just win.

"You have to work hard to make the breaks go for you but everything just seemed to fall into place last season.

"In 1989 you sat on the bench and you knew and the players knew that you were going to win.

"This year the breaks haven't come."

Two of the past three Victorian State League championship winning teams have finished their follow-up campaign in dismal fashion.

Can Morwell arrest that trend in 1990?

Vic hopes

VICTORIAN hopes for an end to the long-running saga of local competition rationalisation were dashed again last week, when a State League board of management meeting failed to reach an agreement on further proposals put forward for discussion.

Both proposals, one from VSF chairman Vito Cilauro and the other a combined effort by representatives of the VSF, State and Victorian Leagues, were, according to VSF spokesman Terry Jones, "knocked on the head" at a heated meeting of State League representatives.

The deep-rooted problems of the major bodies in Victoria still at loggerheads with each other was blamed Johan Cruyff . . .

No to Netherlands

BARCELONA manager Johan Cruyff has ruled himself out as a candidate for the vacant post of Dutch national coach, newspapers in the Netherlands reported.

The former Dutch star said it was impossible for him to combine the job with the obligations to the Spanish club.

"I'm up to my ears in work at Barcelona where my contract still has a year to run," De Telegraaf newspaper quoted Cruyff as saying.

"As national coach you must be near everything. That means you must follow Dutch football closely. That's not possible from Spain," he added.

Speculation Cruyff might take over the post grew after news of a meeting with former national coach Rinus Michels who now has a leading role with the Dutch Association.

Cruyff expressed an interest in working with the national team if they reached the next European Championship finals in 1992.

"I have told Michels that I'd be prepared to discuss coaching the national team once it has qualified for the European Championship," he said.

The Netherlands begins its qualifying campaign with an away match against Portugal in October.

JOHNNY WARREN HAS HIS SAY

England striker for Spain

SPANISH First Division club Real Sociedad has signed England B international striker Damian Atkinson from Sheffield Wednesday for five years.

Atkinson, 22, Real Sociedad's third foreign player alongside Irishman John Aldridge and Briton Kevin Richardson, was officially introduced to fans.

Spanish press reports said the Basque club had paid about $2 million but British media reports put the figure at $4 million.

Wednesday plans to replace Atkinson with Charlton's Paul Williams, the London club's leading scorer for the past two seasons.

Charlton chief Lennie Lawrence has accepted a $1.6 million offer from Wednesday boss Ron Atkinson for Williams, explaining

"It was too good to refuse, although we are reluctant to let Paul go."

Wednesday will spend $A469,380 more of the Atkinson fee on Danny Wilson, Luton Town's Northern Ireland midfielder.

Luton manager Jim Ryan expects the deal to be completed at Hillsborough tomorrow after the 31-year-old agreed personal terms with the Yorkshire club.

Ryan, who took over as Luton manager in January, said: "We were put in a bit of a spot when the offer came in for Danny. He's a very good player, but I thought that the price for a 31-year-old was fair."

"We allowed him to talk to Sheffield Wednesday and he has decided he would like to take their offer."

Wednesday will be Wilson's seventh club. He has also played for Bury, Chesterfield, Nottingham Forest, Scunthorpe and Brighton.

***

In other transfer news Italian giants Juventus have had a $12 million offer for England defender Des Walker rejected by Nottingham Forest.

Forest, who threatened to call in UEFA over the deal last week when the Turin side announced they had already signed Walker, want to hold the 24-year-old to the three-and-a-half-year contract he signed four months ago.

Forest might be more willing to listen to offers for goalkeeper Steve Sutton, who is said to be interesting Second Division Leicester.

Des Walker

Likewise, Everton could well be ready to sell Welsh international centre-back Kevin Ratcliffe, following his poor form last season.

If they are prepared to offload him, Manchester City, managed by former Everton boss Howard Kendall, would be interested.

Manchester United are also chasing a centre-back, but they are looking further down the scale at Chris Short, who plays for Fourth Division Scarborough.

Alex Ferguson, the Manchester United manager, is set to sign the 20-year-old in the next 48 hours following his impressive two-week trial.

***

Scottish champions Glasgow Rangers are expected to tie up their purchase of Dutch international winger Peter Huistra from Twente even sooner.

"Only one or two small details have to be fixed up," said Rangers boss Graeme Souness, who has had Huistra on trial for the past 10 days.

Meanwhile, Arsenal manager George Graham has targeted Bayern Munich striker Alan McInally as his next summer signing.

The Scotland international is reported to be available at around $2 million.

The Football League on collision course

THE English Football League declared war on the Football Association by voting overwhelmingly for a return to a 22-club First Division.

The League defied FA advice to retain a 20-club top flight and League president Bill Fox even threatened a possible split from the FA if it did not sanction the change.

Only three clubs — Arsenal, Tottenham and Manchester United — voted against the motion.

Disappointed Arsenal vice-chairman David Dein said: "It is quite clear that the League are on a collision course with the FA."

"We want quality not quantity. If money is what it is all about why not have a 28 or 30-club First Division? We have to do what is best in the long term for football and we don't think this is it."

The idea put forward by Chelsea chairman Ken Bates at the League's annual meeting in June, but narrow defeat then — means that two clubs will be relegated from the First Division next season and four promoted from Division Two.

No club will be relegated from Division Four, but one club will come up from the Vauxhall Conference, making a 93-club League for season 1991-92.

In 1991-92 the First Division will revert to three up, three down, with the Fourth Division system staying the same, bringing the League up to 94 clubs.

The FA has to vote on the changes, but Fox dismissed its objections: "As far as the League are concerned, we've voted for a 22-club First Division, regardless of what the FA think."

If the FA does not allow the alterations, Fox warned: "We would have to dissociate ourselves from the FA. I have no idea if that will happen."

"The international team is furnished by League clubs. Without the participation of the League in the FA Cup, it is a non-starter."

Medico Codesal leaves refereeing

THE Mexican referee who enraged Argentina by ordering a controversial penalty that gave West Germany the World Cup soccer championship says he is retiring.

The 39-year-old Edgardo Codesal says a man should retire exactly when he is at the top and not when he is asked to leave.

Fans of Argentina heaped insults on Codesal after he awarded the penalty that gave West Germany a 1-0 victory in the July 8 final in Rome.

Although retiring as a referee, Codesal, a gynaecologist who was born in Uruguay but became a Mexican citizen in 1981, says he will continue in soccer administration and will remain in medical practice.

Expansion arrives for Yugoslavia

YUGOSLAVIA'S Federation expanded its First Division from 18 to 19 teams after a long dispute which began with a referee being hit by a beer can.

Sarajevo were relegated last season after opponents Dinamo Zagreb were awarded a 3-0 victory because the referee was struck by a beer can thrown from the stands. The game was abandoned at half time.

But at the end of the season, a special commission ruled that the match should be replayed and Sarajevo won 1-0. The victory took them above Velez Mostar, who dropped into the Second Division instead.

Velez responded on the opening day of the new season last Saturday by refusing to play.

A hastily-called Federation meeting decided to let both Sarajevo and Mostar remain in the top division.

WATCH FOR THE AUSTRALIAN RELEASE OF DR WRZOS' FORTHCOMING BOOK — Soccer, the International Training Guide, which will be published in New York in January next.

ance (5 goals kicked from beyond penalty spots)

In analysing the skill of goal kicking, it should be noted that the German players executed the most difficult technique, that of swift kicking — shooting the ball after one touch with the result of 10 goals

Germany's highest score of 10 goals in the second half (46-90 mins. play) confirms the fact

- Germans players were exceptionally well prepared physically
- They consistently carried out the proper tactical moves recommended by the coach for play in the second half

The exceptional effectiveness of team positional attack and tactical solutions in 'typical match situations' bears witness to the excellent co-ordination, co-operation and tactical discipline of the German players in carrying out tactical moves in offensive action

For a true appraisal of the winning team of Italia '90, as well as of the other best teams (Italy, England, Argentina and so on), it would be necessary to carry out a wider analysis of technical and tactical elements, as well as an analysis of the issue of tactical technical defensive play.

Amongst all, West Germany (13 points) and Italy (12 points) were the best teams at World Cup 1990.

The continuing wet spell has delayed further work from taking place on the ground development at Austral Park, home of the Newcastle BHP Australs. More soil was delivered during early August but work on placement and leveling of earlier fill has not been completed. There is also a backlog of games at the Birmingham Gardens ground. Wallsend, the NNSW 2nd Division club, are using the facility this season, the wet has caused games to be deferred. We could see Summer Soccer in Newcastle sooner than expected at this rate!

***
Newcastle BHP Austral Soccer stalwart David Jones was also celebrating his birthday on August 4. Still playing with enthusiasm and maintaining a high degree of fitness, he is currently playing in the back four. Some call him the elder statesman of the team, but Dave will have none of it. Judging by his form this year he still has a lot to contribute. Not wanting to give his age away, but it is safe to say he won't see 34 again.

***
The Newcastle BHP Austral squad was anxious to secure the NSW State League results whilst they were in Fiji. It seemed that securing the results was a 'no go', but the team management telexed a report and a request for results to ASW. Writer John Economos answered the call and the scores were quickly made known to the party in the packed Hyatt Regency restaurant.

Slater starts well

ROBBIE Slater has got off to a good start in France.

In the first game of the season for his Second Division side, Lens, the Soccer-oo striker was awarded five points out of a possible six in the prestigious FRANCE FOOTBALL ratings and was chosen in the Second Division "Team of the Week."

Robbie Slater

Lens beat La Roche/Yon in their season opener and though Slater did not score, he made the first goal.

In the second game of the season, Lens lost 2-0 at Reims, with another good display from Slater, who rated four points.

Reims goalkeeper Pascal Rousseau saved a point-blank header from the Aussie to earn a five-point performance and in the last minute a brilliant cross from Slater was put in the net by Boli, but the goal was disallowed for a very dubious off-side.

Last weekend, Lens were beaten 1-0 at Angers, with Slater again chosen as one of his team's best players.

SBS will telecast Australia's two matches against South Korea live from Seoul. The first game will be shown on 10.15pm on

Gascoigne joins BHP Austral

The headline is not what it seems, but it's a great signing anyway. Sue Gascoigne has joined BHP Austral as office administrator, replacing Cheryl Cleary who will be leaving for Europe at the end of August for a working holiday. Sue has spent some years in club administration at Speers Point RSL and Comsteel Bowling Clubs. BHP Australs are presently embarking on two of the most ambitious projects in their history, major improvements at Birmingham Gardens headquarters (near Wallsend) to both club and ground.

Add to this their push to be in the NSL in 1991/92, it is going to be a busy time all round.

KIWI AVAILABLE

I am very interested in coming to play soccer in Australia this coming season, either in the National League or with a top State League club.

I am 29 years old and at present a goalkeeper for Wellington United. I have 12 years National League experience, a total of 230 league games.

I have also represented New Zealand in the All Whites four times.

I have been very involved in goalkeeping coaching over the last four seasons, coaching young goalkeepers around the Wellington Region.

With my experience I think I would be an asset to any club, and I would love to play soccer in Australia.

Clubs interested can contact me by air mail letter or preferably by phone.

Newcastle Austral's tenth year social

Austral United Soccer Club Limited, the licensed club that backs the NSW State League First Division team, celebrated its tenth year on Saturday August 8.

The club held a Dinner/Dance to mark the occasion. Many members were disappointed as tickets for the night were sold long before the event.

Con Mitsios, president, and Rob Chenary, general manager of premier sponsor BHP Rod and Bar Products, cut the birthday cake prior to celebrations getting into full swing.

Club general manager Dave McQuire announced that in another decade the club would be able to accommodate those members who were unable to get seating on this occasion.

One encouraging feature of the evening was the high number of Junior Super League members who were among those enjoying themselves.

An ever increasing number of junior players are casting their eyes in the direction of this successful and ambitious club.

APIA WILL CARRY ON

BY KATHY GILMORE

APIA-Leichhardt is seeking a new major sponsor to replace Italian food giants, Bertolli.

The club is reeling after losing the support of both Bertolli and the Apia Club.

Whilst the demise of the famous Maroons with their limited attendances, has been widely tipped, club enthusiasts are determined to keep the ball rolling.

A number of keen followers have committed $5,000 each, and approaches are being made to business interests in their district to help keep the flag flying.

Apia is believed to have already signed its 1990/91 NSL squad in readiness for the kick-off on October 5/7.

Buy a badge for Legacy

"Buy a badge for Legacy" will be the cry of thousands of volunteer badge sellers throughout New South Wales on Legacy's Annual Badge Day, Friday, September 7.

This year, Sydney Legacy hopes to raise $1 million from the sale of badges, and donations during Legacy Week.

The money raised by Sydney Legacy goes towards the care of some 21,700 widows and 700 children.

In excess of 80 of these children are primary school aged.

Legacy provides financial assistance in many forms, including rental assistance, education fees, and medical and dental subsidies.

Legacy also offers advice and a focus for personal contact and friendship.

On September 7

there will be groups organising sales of badges in all metropolitan areas of Sydney and in all cities and towns throughout the State.

So when you see a Legacy Badge Seller, don't hide.

Take this chance to do your bit to help support his uniquely Australian organisation that looks after the widows and children of deceased servicemen.

Technical help for Aussie youth

FROM STEVE DARBY

Steve Darby — dare to be creative.

THE World Cup had many vivid memories, ranging from the magnificent goal of Roberto Baggio or the emotion of Paul Gascoigne at being booked for the second time through to the elegance and antics of Roger Milla.

However, what can we in Australia extract from the World Cup and apply to our game?

Tactical formation is probably the simplest initiative as a number of teams operated a 3-5-2 formation and this can be copied.

It is essential that coaches realise that their players must have both physical attributes and ability if they are given specific tasks.

An example of this would be a comparison between the craft of Andreas Brehme operating in the wide midfield position for Germany compared with the more artisan approach of England's Stuart Pearce.

Brehme looked not only quick but comfortable on the ball and knew what to do when he was in a crossing position.

Pearce, however, looked far happier when he was in a defensive destructive position rather than the creative role that position really is.

Coaches must not in the most simple form just convert their left-back into a wide midfielder and expect him to adapt but must be helped to adapt to new roles.

Another prominent feature of the World Cup was that all the best players, including defenders, were quick and had the ability to reproduce their speed throughout the game.

Classic examples of good professional players who were not international standard due to their lack of speed were Aitken, Butcher and McMa-tive match.

I admire the developmental youth coach who has the strength of belief in his values when he rotates the position of his players and risks defeat.

The ultimate question to be asked of the youth coach is what is his job?

Is it to win premier-ships or develop footballers modelled on the classic role models of Enzo Scifo, Lothar Matthaus or Michel?

Of course, it is easy to write about these long-term philosophies and far easier to have a safe reliable team playing 4-4-2 for 35 games a year.

If we are to continue to progress, we must dare to be creative and take risks.

As coaches we owe to our young players to extend and push them technically rather than just physically.

Live SBS telecast for Man Utd — Liverpool

BY JOHN ECONOMAKIS

ON Saturday night SBS-TV will telecast live the 82nd Charity Shield, traditionally the curtain-raiser for the English football season, direct from Wembley Stadium at 11.50pm EST.

Ace commentator Martin Tyler

Commentary will again be done by the highly articulate, honey-voiced World Cup specialist, Martin Tyler.

Liverpool (League champions) clash with Manchester United (FA Cup winners).

The Shield brings together England's two biggest clubs, both managed by Scots, Kenny Dalglish and Alex Ferguson.

The first Shield was played back in 1908 when United crushed Queens Park Rangers 4-0 in a replay following an initial 1-1 draw.

Manchester United won the Shield in 1908, 56, 57, 65, 67, and 1983 beating Liverpool 2-0.

In 1965 and 67 however, Manchester United were split-holders of the Shield when they drew with Liverpool (2-2) and Spurs (3-3).

Each club was allowed to hold the Shield for six months.

Liverpool split the Shield in 1964 when they drew 2-2 with Bobby Moore's West Ham.

Since then they won it in 1966, 74, 76, 77 (together with Manchester United (0-0), 79, 80, 82, 86 (together with Everton 1-1), 88 and last year against Arsenal.

The Charity Shield these days in the event of a draw is decided by the dreaded penalty shoot-out rather than permit split-holders.

Presenting the exclusive telecast for SBS-TV will be Les Murray joined on the studio panel with former Socceroo captains, John Warren and Charlie Yankos.

JUNIOR CAMPS

THE Soccer Federations of NSW should keep a close watch on the standard of coaching for school-children in the various private camps arranged for holiday periods.

My experience makes me wonder about them.

They should cover the needs of individual children, rather than giving generalised coaching.

Using name players after does not help the quality of the coaching.

The quality of food and standard of supervision can often be upgraded.

Some "coaches" lack discipline — and their language does not fit them to handle youngsters.

Bleiberg watches Queensland scene

BY GREG RUSSELL

Miron Bleiberg — Brisbane resident.

LEADING clubs Pine Rivers and Brisbane City are set to come under the eye of former top Melbourne coach Miron Bleiberg, who has moved to Queensland.

Bleiberg, an ex Melbourne Croatia and Heidelberg National League coach, will move into northside suburb Chermide.

Teenage poser for Saints

BY TED SIMMONS of AAP

FIVE teenagers are preparing a king-size headache for St George coach Frank Arok as the starting time gets closer for the second National League summer season.

The quintet, Adam Ponic, Blago Mihcevic, Eddie Haragli, Shaun Freestone and Zoki Adioski, are members of the St George youth team which is currently equal second in the NSW State League and only one point behind leader Wollongong Macedonia.

Arok and former Saints striker Dez Marton are coaching the team with most of the players coming from the St George apprentice development scheme.

"This is basically last year's Under 19 team with the addition of the apprentices who came into the club when we began the scheme nearly a year ago," said St George president Tony Balazsi.

"Originally, we told the team not to worry about winning or losing because we wanted to produce players for the next national league.

"But they have progressed so well in the second half of the season that they now want the State title.

"Irrespective of their finishing position, they are producing a style of play and commitment which is posing a challenge to last season's first team players."

Balazsi rated Argentine striker Osvaldo El Ali as the biggest bonus for the club and a splendid example for the younger players.

El Ali, who formerly played with Marconi, was snapped up last season by St George and is under a long-term contract with the Saints.

"He is creating and scoring goals and will play a major role in the summer season," said Balazsi.

El Ali has worked with and encouraged Freestone, who is scoring almost a goal a game, fellow-striker Adioski, midfielders Haragli and Proci and defender Mihcevic.

The 15 players in the apprentice scheme train twice a day, four days a week under Marton and Arok.

Balazsi said the club is also involved in a series of improvements to St George Stadium and most of them will be finished by October.

They include parking for 1,000 cars and upgraded safety procedures with other areas included in long range plans.

Queensland's own beer

Mitchell aids battlers Mt Gravatt

BILLY WILLIAMSON

NEW Mount Gravatt coach Dick Mitchell is enjoying the heat after jumping from the frypan into the fire.

Six weeks ago Mitchell left O'Callaghan Park, where North Star were battling to retain the premiership and took over at Dittmer Park where the Hawks were battling relegation.

Despite the pressure and gloom which has weighed on the Hawks shoulders all season Mitchell has been able to achieve results culminating in a shock 3-0 defeat of his former club.

Survival in the XXXX League now looks a gettable chance for the former State League champions, but Mitchell refuses to go any further than his side's next game.

"We have to look at each match separately and decide how we can win it," he said. "We can't afford to talk about how many games we need to win or how many other teams have to lose."

"I've told the team we can't keep expecting other sides to lose. We have to do something positive ourselves."

Although many were surprised that Mitchell would leave the successful North Star club where he was assistant to player-coach Billy Williamson, Mitchell, who has a level 3 certificate, says he has no regrets about going out on his own.

"It was a hard decision, but I'm glad I made it," he said.

"I was always happy at North Star, but I felt I was getting stagnant. I had to get away to do my own thing."

Mitchell refuses to accept accolades as the miracle-worker Mount Gravatt fans prayed for and claims to have been only marginally responsible for the improvement in the side since he took over.

"It was a matter of keeping things simple," he said.

"It was obvious the confidence of the side had dropped and when that happens good players are turned into ordinary ones."

"I just looked to boost their confidence and the results followed."

It also is no coincidence that Mount Gravatt's form revival began when midfielder Martin Kirsopp was signed back from Lions after an injury-plagued two season at Richlands.

Kirsopp has battled back from two serious knee injuries and is among the Hawks who have regained their confidence.

"Martin is a class player with a great attitude," Mitchell said. "All he is lacking is match fitness."

Mitchell also paid credit to the input of former player-coach Alan Niven.

"He has been great to work with and has helped enormously. But all the lads have worked hard and deserve success. Survival is there if we want it," he said.

CLAYTON KOCH OFFER

A $3,000 offer from Sunshine George Cross for Queensland teenage sensation Clayton Koch was dismissed as laughable by his club Pine Rivers.

Koch, 18, who this season became the second youngest player to represent the state at full level and was drafted into Eddie Thomson's preliminary Olympic squad, is the hottest property to come out of Queensland since Frank Farina.

Pine Rivers president Lance Siedofsky said the club was insulted by the lowly offer from the Melbourne club.

"It's laughable that they could offer such a small amount for a state player," he said. "I get the impression they think we're from the backwoods."

Siedofsky said Sunshine officials had rejected a loan arrangement, but he said Rivers would not enter any arrangement unless it was under the best terms for Koch, who has played with the club since juniors.

His brother John, a former young Socceroo is now at Sydney Olympic.

"Our main concern is that Sunshine George Cross looks after Clayton on and off the park," Siedofsky said.

"We are not looking to make money from selling him, we just want the best deal for the player."

Former Socceroo Col Bennett is among many leading Queensland soccer identities who have urged Koch to look around before jumping at the Sunshine offer.

"Koch cannot just accept the offer nor his club accept the miserly transfer fee offered to them by this club," Bennett wrote in his weekly column.

"It is always a tough decision for a young player, trying to get into an NSL team and possibly the Olympic squad, to say no to these offers."

"But perhaps a self-paid trip to Sydney and a phone call to all the Sydney NSL clubs could see him earn a trial with a higher profile club and perhaps a better chance of a contract with a better outfit."

SUNSHINE COAST'S LIGHTNING TROPHY

Robbie Glover and Brian DeCourcy from Buderim Wanderers receive the Ansett NSW Lightning Premiership trophy from Sunshine Coast manager of Ansett NSW Ian Sara. Buderim downed rivals Beegees 1-0 in the inaugural event, having snuck into the final on a penalty shootout over Kawana at Maroochydore.

Competing were Sunshine Coast First Division teams Beegees, Buderim, Caloundra, Kawana, Maroochydore and Woombye.

The Ansett sponsorship arrangements provide a six day holiday for two in conjunction with the Coral Coast Resort, Cairns, and will be used as a fundraiser for all Sunshine Coast clubs.

Lions tread softly

BY GREG RUSSELL

QUEENSLAND'S only hope of gaining a place in the National League next year — XXXX League premiers — elect Brisbane Lions — have strangely gone quiet on the idea.

Lions are in an unbeatable position at the top of Queensland's premier competition and club officials a month ago gave an undertaking that they would contest the promotion play-offs against the Victorian and South Australian premiers.

But that was before the Australian Soccer Federation last week adopted the Bradley Report in total.

The report calls for the inclusion of a Queensland team in the national competition in the summer of 1991.

The dilemma now facing Lions is what would happen if they get into the NSL this year? Would the club be automatically relegated next season to make way for the "united" Queensland side? Would they get any financial compensation if they have to hand over the place?

Or would they find themselves as a club side in competition with the Federation backed United team?

Lions officials are keeping tightlipped on the direction they will take over the next few months.

Understandably they are probably uncertain.

Southern NSL clubs already have begun sniffing at the Lions squad, with Nick Meredith gaining an trial offer from Marconi.

If Lions do not honor their commitment to go NSL they risk losing the cream of the team and would find themselves among the also-rans in next year's XXXX League.

Lions secretary Lawrence Oudendyk, who helped steer the club into the inaugural Philips League in 1977, through nine years of National League and again when they won promotion back into the top flight for one season in 1987, is cautious.

"When you have been involved in soccer as long as I have, you learn not to make statements until everything is covered," he said.

"As soon as we have won the premiership our committee will sit down and discuss all the alternatives."

Oudendyk said he personally considered a united entry as Queensland's best chance of competing in the national league, but also believed Queensland could not afford to stay out of the top competition for much longer.

Each season we are out of the national league, the harder it will be to get back in," he said.

Which Brisbane Lions go, it will be a difficult decision, consider best overall for the club and the code in Queensland.

AMPOL CUP FINAL

BY PAT McERLEAN

Northern Star will be itching to make it two wins in a row as they take on Eastern Suburbs this weekend in the Ampol Cup Final.

If North Star are successful, it will be the second time they won back to back Ampol Cup Finals. North Star last put two cup wins together back in 1984-85.

Eastern Suburbs will have other ideas, their success in the 1990 Brisbane XXXX League has been consistent in the last six fixture matches, although in last week's catch up game Pine Rivers defeated Eastern Suburbs 4-1.

Eastern Suburbs Coach Phil Thompson will obviously put the defeat to great advantage as they chase their first Ampol Cup.

The big interest in the XXXX League Competition is which teams will be relegated.

Two teams will be relegated at the end of the 1990 season and the three in the danger zone are Grange Thistle, Brisbane Olympic and Mt Gravatt. Grange Thistle are a club which was established 70 years ago and have been the backbone of Brisbane and Queensland soccer.

Brisbane Olympic is filled with spirit and tradition while Mt Gravatt are a club who have won the top awards.

These three clubs play a Cup Final every week until the picture becomes clear.

Star may quit AdCity

BY ALAN COOKE

FORMER Red Star Belgrade sweeper Milan Ivanovich is in dispute with Adelaide City and may have to find another club or return to Yugoslavia.

These dramatic developments surfaced when City president Charlie Caruso said that Ivanovich had changed his mind about accepting an earlier offer to renew his contract for the 1990-91 NSL summer season.

"I told Ivanovich that my original offer stands and if that is not satisfactory then he can either find himself another club or return to Yugoslavia," Mr Caruso said.

Ivanovich is in Australia on a two-year visa, which is due to expire in October.

Ivanovich joined City from Red Star in February 1989 and won City's Players' Player of the Year award in his first season in Australia's Quit National Soccer League.

The first hint of a rift between Ivanovich and City occurred in June this year when the skilful defender sought and was granted permission to speak with Adelaide Hellas.

Hellas president Michael Aronis and the player failed to agree on terms, so Ivanovich resumed discussion with Adelaide City.

It cost City $45,000 to secure Ivanovich from Red Star and City expects to recoup most of that figure should he join another NSL club.

Meanwhile, City coach Zoran Matic has failed to secure young Sydney Olympic defender John Koch but is continuing negotiations with other interstate players.

"Koch was interested in joining us but he's just bought a home unit in Sydney and is looking to find another club there," Matic said.

CONWAY ON TOP

FLAME-haired defender Dave Conway has won USC Lion's Player of the Year award from Danny Maranyon and John Klein.

Ex-Whyalla man Conway polled 37 votes to Maranyon's 35, with Klein scoring 33.

Andrew Borghetto was top scorer with nine league and cup strikes.

Top reserve player was Steve McNaughton from Paul Cavallin while Maurice Gallina won the best Youth award from Ilya Bychkov and Danny Trotano.

Fonz Laudato was the leading reserve scorer with seven goals and Joe Barila top youth team marksman with 19 goals.

ASF rejects Scot

ADELAIDE Hellas has received a "red card" from the Australian Soccer Federation over its bid to import Scottish midfielder Gardner Spiers from Airdrieonians.

ASF officials have informed the club that Spiers, an attacking midfielder, is not acceptable as an import for the Quit National Soccer League.

Hellas captain Alby Kidd said yesterday he was disappointed by the ASF ruling.

"I played against Spiers when he was at St Mirren and I recommended him to the club because I'm convinced he would be a success in the NSL."

"I know what he's capable of doing and before I spoke for him I checked on his fitness with his club manager, Jimmy Bone."

Now registered with Airdrie, Spiers played for St Mirren in 1979 and was loaned to Kilmarnock and Dunfermline in 1989.

Hellas wants to scrap playoffs

BY ALAN COOKE

ADELAIDE Hellas has made an impassioned plea to be granted entry to the Quit National Soccer League in October without having to take part in the pre-season play-offs.

Club president Michael Aronis made the request on Thursday to the Australian Soccer Federation and the NSL and he also sought the support of the Consulate General of Greece, Dionysios Coundoureas.

Foundation SA State League champion Hellas believes it unfair that it should have to rush through a series of home-and-away play-offs against the eventual champion clubs from Victoria and Queensland.

Adelaide Hellas has recommended that the criteria of the independent Bradley Report on the future of soccer should be implemented immediately.

mediately.

"Adelaide Hellas Soccer Club represents the Greek name in soccer in South Australia and on behalf of the Greek community of South Australia we want to be part of the NSL for this coming season," Mr Aronis said.

Mr Aronis has suggested that the Bradley recommendation of a 16-team NSL for the 1991-92 season with two representatives from Adelaide, be brought forward to the coming season.

A foundation NSL member, Adelaide Hellas, which won the NSL championship in 1978, has the necessary criteria to again be a national force; excellent crowd support, a fine home ground with lighting (Hindmarsh Stadium) and it recently built a new function centre and clubroom in the city.

It also has a full time administration and development officer, Jim Dielos, and has a strong junior section.

Danny Serena fills Tony Lemezina's shoes

FROM GRAHAM COOKE

MONTHS of worry and frustration has ended for Canberra Croatia striker Danny Serena.

With both Croatia and Sydney Olympic still settling into their recent NSW State League game at the St George Stadium, Ray Junna initiated a Canberra attack on the right.

"His cross missed three or four people," Serena said.

"Zoran Pratezina took a swipe at the ball and that almost threw me because I thought he'd put it away, but it kept on coming to me at the back post and I tapped it in."

Not the most spectacular goal this man has scored in over a decade in ACT senior football, but one he is likely to remember for a long time.

Serena, the man who came to Croatia at the beginning of the season for one last shot at the big time, who spent most weekends since watching others cement their places in a successful side, had achieved the breakthrough.

As it often the case in sport, the opportunity came when it was least expected, just when the striking partnership of Alan Reis and Tony Lemezina seemed unassailable after the 8-1 thrashing of Marconi.

TOM SERMANNI

Suddenly Lemezina was gone and coach Tom Sermanni had no hesitation in giving Serena the chance to step straight into the side.

"It's been a long wait, and I was pretty nervous," the former Juventus ACT first-division star admitted.

"Tom said before the game that I had to relax and be confident."

"There's those two away matches at Newcastle and Avala which a lot of people at the club think will make or break our promotion chances."

"I'm confident providing the current squad stays reasonably free of injuries."

And how does Serena, so often the bane of Croatia in the days when he played for Juventus in the ACT League, enjoy wearing the red, white and blue colours?

ALAN REIS

"I think it would have been different if I'd been playing for Croatia against my old mates at Juventus, but I came here because I wanted a higher standard of soccer and the coach thought I would do the job," he said.

And no one would be happier than Danny Serena if his quest ended in him playing at the highest level of Australian soccer — in the Quit National League this summer.

Austral juniors shine

BHP Australs have four teams playing in the NNSW State Super League Competition, 13s 14s 15s and 17s.

All age groups look like making the semi-finals later this month.

This is the first step in the Austral's youth policy.

They will be working closely with the NNSWSF in the future especially when NSL returns to Newcastle.

Congratulations go to the following boys on their outstanding performance so far this year. Under 13s: Ben Moody, Shayne Brown. Under 14s: Troy Dewhurst, Michael Hodgson. Under 15s: Peter Roberti, Scott Aspinall. Troy Brown, Derek Lockhart.

They all made the State Age Representative teams for 1990.

The 15s have already played. The 13s play in Darwin and the 14s in Launceston, Tasmania later this year.

Congratulations also go to Rudi Sporrer and Chuck Cooper, they will be in charge of the 14s as they head off to the apple isle.

ACT BRIEFS

BY GRAHAM COOKE

While Juventus, Belconnen United and Canberra City Concordia look certain to decide the ACT League championship between them, the team which has been showing the most consistent form in recent weeks is the University of Canberra.

Little more than a month ago the reigning champion seemed doomed to end the season in the lower reaches of the competition — its form was patchy and there were rumours several of its star players were looking for new clubs.

Now, with five wins and a draw in its last six games, it has reached the final of the Federation Cup and has forced its way back into top-four contention.

And that's bad news for the Ampol Cup aspirations of the three leaders, given University coach Ian Shaw's burning ambition to add that trophy to the club's impressive list of successes in recent seasons.

"I don't want to blow my own trumpet, but I think my return from injury has had a steady effect on the team," midfielder Shaw says. "But there's a number of other factors."

"Moving Robbie Heidemanns from sweeper to the midfield has been beneficial, while Alan Rundle and Phil Slater are newcomers who have made a contribution."

"But the return of Joe Minetto to the attack is a key element. He's a better player now — not quite as fast, but with a superb football brain."

"I think we're good enough to cause quite a few upsets before the end of the season."

AIS for Asia tour

THE AUSTRALIAN Institute of Sport's preparations for the summer National Youth League season have begun with the latest intake of new players.

Assistant coach Steve O'Connor says the squad will be moving towards match fitness with a series of games against NSW State League teams which have the bye in their competition.

"Those games will continue until our next tour — to Hong Kong and Malaysia — beginning on September 14," he said.

"We'll be back just in time for the start of the Youth League season."

Craig Johnston aids youngsters

BY PHIL MARTIN

CRAIG Johnston, former soccer star with English super-club Liverpool, passed on the secrets of his success to a group of youngsters at a special AMP Soccer clinic last Saturday.

The 20 young soccer players, aged 10 to 15, were winners of a soccer quiz run in conjunction with the recent World Cup.

Craig hopes the clinics will be the beginning of a major involvement with soccer playing youngsters to ensure Australia's involvement in future World Cups.

He just returned from Italy as a media commentator at the World Cup, and said he was thrilled to be able to put something back into the game through the free AMP-sponsored clinics.

"Although I've had many offers to play and coach at senior level, it's through the children of Australia that I've always seen my return to soccer," said Craig.

"Thanks to the support of AMP, I will be able to pass on the training secrets I learnt at Liverpool, along with my own personal techniques, and other methods from around the world.

"The futures of older players have already been shaped.

"But if young kids have the desire to be champions I can help mould them and motivate them to fulfil their own potential.

"After all, I was only 15 years of age when I took off for England to try and make it in the big time."

Craig will be showing the skills he honed in his eight year career at Liverpool in which he won almost every club winners' medal possible.

These include five League Championships, the FA Cup, the European Cup, and four League Cups.

He said that although he carved out a professional career for himself with one of the world's most successful soccer clubs, he has always believed that the game should also be fun to play.

"It will be a real solid training session for the kids, and I'm sure they'll go home tired, but happy. And that's the way it should be."

Craig was assisted at the clinic by the NSW director of coaching, David Lee, and Marconi NSL player and NSW development officer Robert Wheatley.

The clinic was conducted at the home of the NSW Soccer Federation, Valentine Sports Park, Parklea.

BHP Austral undefeated in Fiji

BY DAVID WILDGOOSE

WILLIE GALLAGHER

NEWCASTLE BHP Austral returned to Australia, triumphant after their undefeated tour of Fiji at the end of July.

Their first game was against a Fijian Under 20 team that they weren't expected to win.

BHP coach Willie Gallagher selected his youngest players for the game and they performed very well.

The score was 0-0 until the 69th minute when Scott Gresham, who had caused all sorts of problems for the Fijians, finally frustrated the defence into making an error which resulted in a penalty.

Bobby Naumov stepped up and placed the ball wide of the keeper and into the back of the net.

It was a thoroughly deserved victory for Austral and one that came as a shock to the Fijian Football authorities.

Further wins and an unbeaten record has convinced the islanders of the quality of football at NSW State League level.

The next match was against 1988 premiership winners Rovandrau Sports Club.

BHP Austral had not expected Rovandrau to take the game seriously so Gallagher named himself, his Assistant Coach, Physio and General Manager in the side.

Rovandrau played enthusiastically and led 2-0 at half time.

This scoreline spurred Austral into action and they ran out winners by 3 goals to 2.

Naumov got his second goal of the tour with Phillips and Bowen grabbing one each.

The Fijian national team gave BHP Austral their toughest match, but goals to Brett Porter and Bobby Naumov secured a 2-0 victory for the visitors.

TOUR RESULTS

BHP Austral 1 (Naumov) Fiji Under 20 0 at Lautoka, BHP Austral 3 (Bowen Phillips Naumov) Rovandrau 2 (Prasad, Chand) at Navau, BHP Austral 2 (Porter Naumov) Fiji 0, BHP Austral 2 (Naumov 2) Hyatt Regency 0.

Close contest in Illawarra League

BY SIMON GOLOVODOVSKI

SOUTH Coast Croatia, Fernhill and West-Figtree are battling it out for the Toohey's Premier League title in the Illawarra District.

Fernhill, one of the strongest teams at the moment, have got an easier draw than Croatia for the balance of the season.

They have Shellharbour, Balgownie, University and Helensburgh to meet, while Croatia's remaining matches are against Port Kembla, Cronulla, West-Figtree and Corrimal.

West's, the last contender for the minor premiership, have got to play a deferred match against Shell-harbour then Wollongong Olympic, University, Helensburgh, Croatia and Cronulla.

Croatia have lost several players since the season started, some of them being Gia Raso to Lysaghts, John Sutcliffe to Wests, whilst Wally Perkovic has left the district.

Lello Camino is under four weeks suspension, Ricky Mondolo has retired, while work commitments prevent Nicky Greatheart from playing regularly.

Some other frustrating news for Croatia is that Claude Cellini is listed for a knee operation and Klaus Wunsch has torn a hamstring and won't play at all for the remainder of the season.

Victorian hopes

as the major reason behind the two proposals getting the thumbs down.

The State League is basically interested in its competition being reduced from 18 to 14 teams and is willing to make few other concessions.

The NSL clubs see no need to vote for any changes and the Victorian League clubs are standing firm in their desire to see radical changes to the game's set-up in Victoria.

It is believed Jones and VSF executive director George Wallace are attempting to resolve the situation by coming up with their own proposal, which was expected to be put to the VSF board of management last night (Tuesday).

They will present it as the final proposal to be put to club delegates for a vote, hopefully in September.

"We've heard all the submissions and all the arguments and the fact is that everyone is going to have to make some compromises," Jones told ASW late last week.

Seventh Sydney Ethnic Soccer World Cup soon

BY MARIO ETCHART

The 1990 World Cup has just finished in Italy but in Sydney preparations are well under way for the seventh Sydney Ethnic Soccer World Cup which will be held from next month.

CHILE — 1989 Sydney Ethnic World Cup finalists.

What started as a simple soccer competition six years ago, has now become a bond of friendship between different nationalities and communities that make up the great nation that is Australia.

The important factor in this type of event is that the whole world is represented in this country, and we can be part of a World Cup every year without leaving Australia.

The championship has proved more popular year after year.

In 1989, the grand final between Chile and Turkey attracted more than 6000 fans at Garside Park, an all-time record crowd for the ground.

The Ethnic Cup is played along the same lines as the original World Cup FIFA rules.

Sixteen teams, representing as many countries, participate in the tournament.

There are two divisions, the All Age and over 35s.

In the All Age division the prize for the winner is $10,000, plus the coveted "Ethnic Cup" and $3000 for the runners-up.

The organisation is well under way and the championship will begin on Saturday, September 29 and finish on Saturday, November 3.

Previous winners were Chile 1984, '85 and '89, Colombia 1986, Uruguay 1987 and Macedonia 1988.

Once again you can expect a great mixture of European and South American football, fighting for supremacy here in Sydney.

The great entertainers, Turkey, under the guidance of Mike Johnson, will be all out to go one step further and win the elusive trophy that they were so close to taking last year in a great grand final against Chile which required a replay.

The Chileans and Turks drew after extra time in the first final, with the South Americans winning 2-1 in the replay with a goal from Dennis Duarte in the dying minutes of a great encounter.

This year there is still room for one team in each category.

If you are interested in participating in this unique event, contact the secretary of the Organising Committee, Carlos Panetta, on [02] 7132182 A.H. or by fax on [02] 7446972.

Great Danish, UK tour for NNSW U16s

FROM DAVID H. BRADY

NORTHERN NSW DANA CUP TEAM IN DENMARK

AN Under 16 Northern NSW representative team has just completed its tour of the UK and Europe, culminating in its performances in the Dana Cup, in Denmark, reputedly one of the top two youth soccer tournaments in the world.

This is the first Australian team ever to compete in the Dana Cup, which hosted 790 teams from 43 countries.

The Northern side's tour commenced in London with a game against the Tottenham Hotspur Youth Team (17 to 18 years old signed apprentices), a mere 16 hours after completing a 44 hour epic journey from Newcastle and the game was played in the middle of the day in 30° heat.

Added to this, the Tottenham side had the services of the legendary Ray Clemence, ex-England international, due to an injury to their normal keeper.

The match was played over three 30-minute thirds, with Clemence being called upon to make many fine saves, with one effort being cleared off the line by a defence.

At the end of normal time the Northern NSW lads had shown exceptional skill and commitment and had the Spurs team under extreme pressure for long periods, even though they were down 1-0.

The scoreline ended up 3-0 when the team tired in the oppressive conditions in the final period.

The Spurs coaches, including Pat Holland, former West Ham star player, were particularly impressed and gave high praise to the team for their skill and organized play.

The second game on tour was against an Under 17 regional representative side from the USA.

This game was played 24 hours after the Spurs game, the Northern lads being very much stronger and fresher and the game resulted in a crushing 6-0 victory.

During their stay in London the Australian youngsters came under the watchful eye of Bill Schipwright, the leading FA football coach and Director of the Government-funded and First and Second Division Club-funded Youth Training Scheme.

Mr Schipwright expressed great surprise at the skills and play-making abilities of the team and singled out some lads whom he would be prepared to recommend for trials with three leading UK First Division Clubs.

The team's base was at the University of London, Royal Holloway College sporting complex, which hosts youth teams from all over the world.

It was stated by Mr Schipwright that this was the best team and also the most disciplined group of young people ever to pass through the College.

Following the UK segment of the tour the team travelled by ferry to Esbjerg, in Denmark, a trip lasting 19 hours, in which all the boys were violently seasick.

They then had an immediate five-hour bus trip to Hjørring, arriving just in time to assemble for, and lead, a march by over 15,000 athletes through the town to the main soccer stadium.

On the announcement of the team entering the stadium the large crowd broke into spontaneous applause, and there were many congratulations about the team's professional dress and presence.

Next day the team played its first game in mid-morning, beating Vellstrand I.F., Norway, 10-0.

All players looked sharp and the team was immediately installed as co-favourite for the U16 title.

There were 143 teams in the U16 division.

The second game was played against Haifa, an Israeli team which contained six of Israel's national youth team.

This was an exciting game, with end-to-end football. The final score, 1-0 to NNSW.

This did not depict the dominance of the NNSW team over the Israelis.

The Israelis did not have one clear chance in the entire match.

It was after the game that the team gained the reputation of being 'the excitement team' because of their strong, flowing style of play.

The next game was against Bergen, again from Norway.

This was a hard-fought game under tiring, heat-sapping conditions.

All the games were played under these conditions and this made it difficult for NNSW coming out of an extremely cold domestic winter. The result was 1-0 to NNSW.

This ensured NNSW was top of its group with a 3 win/no loss and a 12-0 aggregate scoreline.

The first game of the Finals series was against Jevnaker I.V., yet another Norwegian team.

These lads were big, fast and hard, but NNSW played brilliantly to record a 4-0 win.

The fast, flowing, creative play of NNSW completely overwhelmed the opposition.

Next the team played FANA, a Norwegian team with 4 national youth team players. Again, NNSW played brilliant, free-flowing football to completely outclass the opposition.

This meant that the team was now in the final 16 round.

Next morning the NNSW team played NHB of Notre Dame, recording a 3-0 victory. This was the hottest day of the tournament, with the temperature exceeding 35 degrees.

At 12.20pm on the same day they played KISA, yet again a Norwegian team, boasting eight national youth team players.

This was a hard-fought, frustrating game in which NNSW created 11 clear chances, hitting the crossbar with a superb 30 metre drive which almost broke the bar.

Two shots hit the post and one was cleared from under the crossbar, which was thought by spectators to have crossed the line.

In addition there were five blatant handballs in the penalty box by KISA, plus one of the NSW players broke through and was ten metres clear of the defence with only the goalkeeper to beat.

He was brought back by the referee and given a free kick for an infringement which occurred five movements earlier.

With 12 minutes left to play KISA scrambled a goal against the run of play from a mis-hit shot, which dribbled into goal and was one of only two attacking dangers by them in the game.

NNSW fought back strongly and pressured KISA mercilessly but unfortunately without success.

The dream, which had been a magnificent obsession till that time, had ended.

The coach of the KISA team admitted afterwards that the better team had lost and that NNSW were a 5-goal better team than this.

This defeat meant that NNSW finished 5th with a far superior goal average out of the previously stated 143 teams. Truly a creditable performance.

The KISA team meanwhile won the semi-final, advancing to the final to meet the very strong Bolivian National Youth Team from the Bolivian Academy of Sport, losing 3-0.

On the last night of the tournament three teams were specially chosen by the Dana Cup Committee to attend an official dinner hosted by the said Committee.

The NNSW team was one of those chosen.

In nine consecutive games opposition teams generated a mere 4 possible scoring shots on the NNSW goal; further, in the matches NNSW scored an amazing 33 goals with only a solitary goal scored against.

Following the Dana Cup the NNSW team played the strong F.C. Bronby Under 16 Youth team, defeating them 5-0.

F.C. Bronby, being the leading Danish First Division team, has seven national team players in its First Division team and is considered strong in all youth teams. The Bronby Youth Director of Coaching, Holger Nielsen, admitted afterwards that the NNSW team was strong enough to play their Under 18 youth team and also expressed interest in some of the NNSW players should they wish to make a move to Denmark.

F.C. Bronby pays first team players between A$80,000 and $450,000 per annum.

It was fairly stated that the NNSW team is one of the best youth teams to represent Australia overseas.

Their behaviour, both on and off the park was exemplary, their soccer creative, skilful and dynamic.

COMMENTS AND STATISTICS

COMMENTS

Bill Schipwright — "You are the best team ever to go through the Royal Holloway College and I feel there are a number of lads in the team who could make it in English football and I will be glad to recommend some of you to three specific First Division clubs."

Head of Security, Royal Holloway College, to Bill Schipwright — "NNSW team is the most well-behaved and polite group of people ever to attend the College."

Danish Under 19 team — "Your boys looked very strong and classy when they marched into the stadium. We envied you. And your discipline — it was so... strong."

Kim Jensen (The team's liaison with the Dana Cup Committee) — "We do all these things for you because you are special people. We didn't think you would do nearly as well as you did. The Dana Cup committee would want to invite you back."

Danish Referee — "You look very sharp. Your team is brilliant and have beautiful skill."

Israeli Coach (at the end of the tournament) — "That was our best match ever."

A large number of English referees — "To have reached this level of skill you must be a national youth team."

• "Your soccer is so brilliant. Why don't you come over here more often?"

• "They are so good and they keep their mouths shut when decisions go against them."

• "English boys play a lot more football but they still don't have the same skill level as your team."

• "How do you get 16 year old boys to behave like that? They are a credit to you."

Sven Eric Jensen (Dana Cup Organizer) — "Never in the history of the Dana Cup has a team been as well presented, especially in the march."

Never has a team been as well mannered or polite.

I was most impressed by the way you all went everywhere as a group, always dressed smartly.

We were all very impressed and surprised at your high level of skill and we didn't realise that Australian soccer had improved so much."

Heather Reid, national executive director, Australian Womens Soccer Federation — "I've been with quite a few touring teams over the years and this was the most professional, disciplined, well organised and behaved team I've seen."

The team played brilliantly, with a free-flowing, highly skilled, well organised style.

"Shark" project to catch local players interest

IN a joint venture, combining the NSW Amateur Schools plan and members of Sutherlands State League club, many local primary schools in the Sutherland Association are currently receiving soccer instruction from top representative players.

In a move that precedes the recommendations set out in the Bradley Report in regard to schools development, Sutherland players have volunteered their time to assist in the promotion of soccer at the local level.

The aim of associations that do have a soccer side in the State League or NSL competitions must be to establish a base of district support that will provide spectators for their games and possibly future players for the club.

The two weeks of soccer clinics in primary schools, which began on Monday and continue until Friday August 24, will allow young children to meet and work with players of a very high standard.

With the assistance of the NSWASF and their field officers the amount of schools that a combined effort can visit will increase to 18 over the fortnight.

Experienced players who will give the game a much needed boost to the schools front include, Rob O'Shea, Tim Webster, Daryl Sharp and Tony Brandtman.

They will be able to inform the children of the clubs progress towards a place in the NSL.

These players have spent many years in the game and their soccer advice will be invaluable for children interested in the game and also for existing players.

By carrying out this positive move Sutherland Football Club and the Association have shown themselves to be on target in the area of schools development.

Local players in the Sutherland area also have the opportunity to witness the Soccerroos in action tonight at Seymour Shaw. Be there to support our national team and grab an autograph before the Indonesian trip.

Brisbane's ISSA Cup reaches its climax

PERRY Park Brisbane was the venue on Wednesday, August 1 for the Independent Schools Soccer Association Cup semi-finals.

After two rounds of matches in both the Under 14 and Open divisions the strongest GPS and TAS schools had won through to a showdown for a place in the final.

In the first Under 14 semi-final, Brisbane Grammar and St Paul's finished level at 3 all but Grammar eventually won through 4-3 on penalties.

It was a very entertaining match with the equalizer in the final minute of normal time.

As in Italy during the World Cup, penalty shoot-outs have become common fare in this competition.

The other match was more clear cut, with St Laurences College running out comfortable winners over Redeemer Lutheran College to the tune of 3-1.

All teams in this grade played open, attacking soccer and showed a refreshing will to win.

Both matches in the Open grade were very close and hard fought encounters.

Neither Villanova nor Redeemer could break through solid defences during normal time and finished nil all.

The shoot-out went Villa's way 4-2, much to the relief of their supporters and coaching staff.

Brisbane Grammar and St Paul's clashed in the second match which proved to be a see-sawing affair.

St Paul's struck first but were 2-1 down at half-time only to come back strongly in the second half and eventually run out 3-2 winners.

The Association's popular knock-out competition reaches its climax at Perry Park on the evening of Wednesday August 22.

With four different schools reaching the final stage, the competition for Independent schools in the Brisbane region will have a truly representative flavour.

The Under 14 match between St Laurences and Brisbane Grammar will kick off at 5pm followed by the Open final between Villanova and St Paul's.

Supporters from all schools can expect some high quality, entertaining schoolboy soccer.

NNSW v NSW

On its return the team drew 2-2 with the U/16 NSW team coached by David Lee, who it must be stressed, carried all before them at the recently held National Youth Identification Championships in Sydney.

This was truly a magnificent effort and an exciting game. Further, the team has improved greatly and could, with the benefit of the recent tournament and overseas experience, be a little above the winners of the National Identification Championships.

TURNER CUP REGIONAL WINNERS

Christian Brothers won their region in the Cup, defeating Daramalan, Canberra 7-6 on penalties after a 2-2 draw on goals.

Chilean coach at Parklea

Chilean coach Fernandez was to provide a demonstration on Monday August 6.

Due to the wet conditions of the grounds at Parklea the night was cancelled.

Mr Fernandez has made himself available for Friday August 17.

The venue is still Valentine Park Parklea, starting at 7pm.

If wet weather is experienced during the week leading up to the August 17, it would be in your interest to call 629 1800 and confirm if the seminar is still on.

John Keirs — the NT's youth wonder man

FROM DANNY HIMBRECHTS

ONE has only to spend a few minutes with Northern Territory under 15 coach John Keirs to realize that his cause in the world's number one sport is a voluntary love and dedication to the game that calls for titanic efforts to fulfil.

This quiet unassuming soccer messiah from the north takes what we would all term as an impossibility as just another day's work.

And he relishes the chance to do more.

His arrival in the Macarthur area for this year's U/15 Talent ID Tournament came as a pleasant culture shock and rude awakening for any soccer volunteers who thought they had it tough.

The titles themselves would have to be the easy part — the workload that this man takes upon himself as a case of necessity prior to the event would leave most of us floundering in the dust.

Take for example us city slickers having to attend trials across town with our car full of eager players on a warm afternoon with an hour's drive through traffic.

Then imagine the distance between Darwin and Alice Springs. Get your bearings fixed, the trials are at the Alice this weekend.

We'll drive down under slightly hotter conditions, buy two sets of tee shirts, make sure we have the oranges and plenty of water at the ready and we will have our trials.

John Keirs is the sole selector, coach, the administrator, the manager, the physio, the tournament director, travel co-ordinator and chief fundraiser to enable the boys the luxury of a playing strip.

After thousands of kilometres spent scouring the Top End for talent, he settles on a squad and engages himself in a marathon effort to raise the necessary funds for the coming tournament.

He buys the popular overseas club shirts to raffle off in clubs, pubs, in fact anywhere there is life.

The trip to Sydney will cause the players and their parents, some out of pocket expenses, but a spanner is cruelly thrown into his plans as two of his most promising squad members decide to represent the Territory in another sport as their trip is free.

After all this John is ready for the call of duty and embarks south with his young and inexperienced charges to carry the flag for the Territory.

His assistance is a $300 grant to cover his accommodation whilst in Sydney, the motel bill is going to cost $500.

This is the type of person John Keirs is and always will be. All for soccer, himself next.

For those who think this man might be doing it a little tough, just fathom the reality that John's arrival back in the Territory will signal the start of it all again.

You see, John is also coach of the U/13 squad.

U/14 STATE CUP FINAL

LIVERPOOL Albion won their first ever State Cup Championship when David Low scored the only goal of the final for a 1-0 win over Sylvania Heights 1-0 on Sunday at Christie Park.

In very windy conditions the standard of play was excellent and while James Gales never took a backward step and Brett Cole was desperately unlucky with two glorious shots.

It was the mercurial Bradley Turner who work the match ball as man of the match.

To reach this final Liverpool Albion had to beat North Rocks (5-0 and 6-1), Maroubra United (3-2 after extra time), Greystanes (3-0) and Sans Souci (3-0).

The Boys are minor premiers in their SDSFA competition and will represent their district on the champions of champions tournament.

When Soccerroo Robbie Wheatley presented the 1990 U/14 State Cup to team captain Jason Grant it was indeed a very proud moment for the Liverpool Albion Soccer club and testimony to the talent of their coach Reg (Bo) Turner.

US COACH CONFIDENT

BOB GANSLER

NATIONAL US coach Bob Gansler said he would welcome Franz Beckenbauer's help in preparing the American team for the 1994 World Cup but was not worried about losing his job to the coach of the West German champions.

"I've said it a couple of times and will say it again. I don't think Beckenbauer wants my job," Gansler said. "He just left the best coaching job in the business."

But Gansler said it would be foolish not to accept assistance from a man who has both played for and coached World Cup champions.

"I feel that we are certainly in a situation where we can use the advice of somebody who has been there so many times," Gansler said.

"In an advisory capacity, a person of that magnitude would be something to look forward to."

Beckenbauer will confer with US officials during the United States Soccer Federation's (USSF) annual meeting, which ends on Sunday.

There has been growing speculation in the soccer community that Beckenbauer will be offered a position by the USSF as the Americans prepare for the 1994 World Cup.

As hosts the United States are guaranteed a berth in the 1994 finals and Gansler said Beckenbauer's experience could prove invaluable.

"The one thing that prepares you to play in the World Cup the best is the experience of having played in the World Cup," Gansler said. "There is no substitute for experience and here is a man who has more of that and success than anybody else."

Gansler led a youthful US squad to its first World Cup appearance in 40 years earlier this year, but his team failed to earn a single point in Italy.

"We were walking on uncharted ground and there were some things in Italy that did not go as well as we wanted, but it was valuable experience," Gansler said.

Although Gansler expects to continue as US national coach, he could be dismissed if a new federation president is elected this weekend to replace Werner Fricker.

"There is uncertainty but it is not something I have any control over," he said.

"Happy" Gullit looks ahead

RUUD GULLIT — looking forward to a triumphant — season with AC Milan in 1990/91.

AFTER the saddest season in his career, Ruud Gullit is a happy man again.

The Dutch international, who played only a handful of games for European Cup holders AC Milan last season because of a knee injury, said he was feeling great and looking forward to the coming season:

"I feel full of spirit, convinced I can do well, keen to find myself again," he said after returning from his holidays to begin pre-season training with the Italian club.

It was all a far cry from last season: "I arrived at the get-together extremely late, my car broke down on the motorway," the dreadlocked Dutchman recalled.

"It was a kind of foretaste of all that happened later, the saddest season of my career."

"I'm happy to have arrived on time this time, even from the symbolic point of view," he said after receiving a warm welcome from fans at the Milan players' get-together.

Gullit, whose knee had looked on the mend during his appearances for the Netherlands in the World Cup finals, said he was on the way to a full recovery, although it would take time.

"I'm so, so pleased. The knee's great. The doctor said there was something miraculous in such a quick recovery."

He said he would be in good shape in two months and at his best in four.

The league season starts on September 9.

Milan's two other Dutch internationals, Marco van Basten and Frank Rijkaard, join the squad this week.

"My foreigners have played together in only 13 matches in two years," said coach Arrigo Sacchi.

"I've only had my team at their maximum potential for six months, and during that period we got some outstanding results — 4-0 against Juventus, 5-1 over Ascoli, 4-1 against Bologna, 5-0 over Real Madrid and 4-0 against Steaua (Bucharest)."

Sacchi put his side below Inter and big spenders Juventus, who paid a world record $17 million for Roberto Baggio, and champions Napoli as favourites for the Italian title.

But he said he was confident Milan's spirit and talent would keep the team among the world's best sides.

Robson under pressure at PSV

BOBBY Robson is in for a rude awakening when he realises the full implications of the task which lies ahead of him as the new coach to Dutch club PSV Eindhoven.

The former England manager described his first day in charge as 'easy' yet the next few months are sure to be anything but at a club where player power wrecked last season's title bid.

One consolation for Robson is that two of PSV's biggest trouble-makers — Soren Lerby and Wim Kieft — have left after a season of constant quarrelling among key players.

Bobby Robson

But Robson, despite a warm welcome from his new playing staff and the 500 fans who turned out to greet him, has a massive job on his hands.

Any thoughts he might have had of settling for a quiet life after eight, turbulent years in charge of England are already committed to history.

He has leaped unawares from the frying pan into the fire but he insists: "The club may have high expectations of me but that doesn't frighten me. I am used to pressure."

Although all his players speak English, it is imperative that Robson masters the Dutch language because, at a club noted for changing room gossip, he could well become paranoid.

Brazilian ace Romario — Bobby Robson will be relying on the high-scoring forward to strike gold with PSV.

Robson's reputation in Holland is based, not just on his experiences as a national manager, but on his successes with Ipswich in the late 1970s where former Dutch internationals Arnold Muhren and Frans Thijssen excelled under him.

Surprisingly, however, Muhren was somewhat scathing of Robson in his recent autobiography saying: "Tactically, he wasn't one of the best."

Robson is unmoved by the speculation and doubts about his ability to restore former glories to the club which swept all before them at home and abroad two years ago.

"The club has a tremendous record and a big reputation," he says. "They've won a great deal and I'm certain they haven't brought me here for anything less."

"We have some very good players here and in Brazilian striker Romario we have a man with an exquisite touch."

"But we have lost one or two and it will take me time to assess the situation and decide what players, if any, need to be brought in."

While Robson's thoughts are clearly with PSV and the mountain he has to climb, he will still be keeping a watchful eye on events back in England where Graham Taylor is making his own presence felt.

Robson applauds the appointment of the former Villa chief saying: "The FA had to consider three candidates and they have made the right choice. Graham is a good manager and a fine man."

"He is taking on a strong squad, with a terrific nucleus of players, and I wish him all the best. I am certain England will qualify for the European Championship finals and I would be delighted to see Graham build on the success we had in Italy."

But, with a word of warning to his Lancaster Gate successor, he says: "Graham may well find it hard to adjust during the first year and he will have to reorganise his mind."

"I don't think he will need my help but if he does require any advice he only as to call".

Celtic Spree

CELTIC boss Billy McNeill hasn't finished his summer spending despite paying out more than $4 million on John Collins, Charlie Nicholas and Martin Hayes.

Now he's hot on the trail of John Harkes, the United States midfielder who caught McNeill's eye while he was covering the World Cup for TV.

Harkes a college player with Albany Capitals, spent a month on trial at Sheffield Wednesday last season. And he could be accompanied to Parkhead by Teddy Eck, the Kansas City Comets striker who was voted the Indoor League's Rookie of the Year for his 34 goals last season.

Eck was set to sign for Hamilton two years ago but couldn't get a work permit. Celtic should have better luck.

Rapid count the cost

AUSTRIAN aces Rapid Vienna are set to miss out on a small fortune despite being paired with Inter Milan in the First Round of the UEFA Cup.

With West German World Cup winners Matthaus, Klinsmann and Brehme in their line-up, Inter will be a massive attraction for the Austrian fans, particularly as it's likely to be Rapid's only home European tie before they get knocked out.

But with renovations at their Hanappi Stadium reducing the capacity to 10,000, Rapid will probably end up making a loss.

They did try to play the game at Vienna's 70,000 capacity Prater Stadium, but that is being used for Austria's Davis Cup tennis match with the United States.

Bangladeshis' welcome

CLOSE to 100,000 fans thronged Dhaka's airport beating drums, waving flags and shouting slogans to welcome home a Bangladesh boy's team from a triumphant Scandinavian tour.

The country's first Lady, vice-president and prime minister Kazi Zafar Ahmed were among those who turned out to greet the under 14 side, which won two international tournaments in Denmark and Sweden.

The Bangladeshi boys routed a Soviet team 5-0 in the final of Denmark's Dana Cup on July 14 to become the unbeaten champions of the week-long tournament, where they also notched up wins over Danish, Swedish and Norwegian sides.

In the subsequent Gothia tournament at Gothenburg, Sweden, the Bangladesh team crushed a French club 9-0 on July 18 and a Swedish side 6-1 on July 20 before trouncing the Piqueninos Club of Brazil 6-0 in the final on July 21.

After their welcome at the airport, the young footballers were taken in open vehicles through crowded roads into Dhaka.

Italy's ace midfielder Roberto Donadoni is looking forward to a successful international and domestic season after missing a penalty in the World Cup semi-final shoot-out against Argentina.

AUSTRALIAN SOCCER WEEKLY — AUGUST 15, 1990 23

Real Madrid star Sanchis. With Rafael Martin-Vazquez gone to Torino, in Italy, Sanchis will be the one of the Spanish champions' lynchpins this season.

Total Brazilian confusion

RIO's state soccer championship will be decided by a Rio Sports Justice Tribunal after a confusing title game ended with one team winning but both sides claiming victory.

Botafogo beat Vasco da Gama 1-0 on a 79th minute goal by midfielder Carlos Alberto Dias.

But as Botafogo players celebrated, Rio Soccer Federation President Eduardo Vianna declared Vasco the champion.

Vianna and Vasco claimed a change in the rules, made after the championship playoffs began, requiring Botafogo to play an extra overtime period to decide the title.

Botafogo officials balked and pointed to another rule stating that the winner of the final game was champion.

In the end, both teams proclaimed victory, and all the players took the traditional champions' trot around the field.

The mixup stems from a change in play-off regulations.

Vasco and Fluminense each qualified for the championship final by winning one half of the regular season title.

Botafogo also qualified by finishing both halves with most aggregate points.

In a drawing, Vasco and Fluminense were selected to play the first game, while Botafogo got a bye.

Vasco won 1-0, eliminating Fluminense.

The Confederation then changed the rule and said Vasco could win the title with just a tie against Botafogo.

For Botafogo to win the title, it would have to beat Vasco in regulation time and then again in overtime.

In an ensuing war of words, Vianna announced Botafogo would be expelled from the federation.

Botafogo immediately filed an injunction in court stopping the expulsion.

MAJOR MOAN

FERENC Puskas, the great Hungarian and Real Madrid star of the 50s and 60s and South Melbourne coach, was not impressed by the events of Italia 90.

The Galloping Major says: "I've never seen such a poor World Cup."

"But I do not think you can put all the blame on the players."

"Consider the referees. Where do they find them?"

"There must have been better referees available somewhere."

ITALIAN RULE CHANGES

ITALIAN authorities have modified a controversial rule that helped Napoli win their second Italian league title in three years.

Napoli were awarded an extra point in an April 8 match at Atalanta after Brazilian midfielder Alemão went off with a head injury having been hit by a coin thrown from the crowd.

The rule that awarded Napoli side a 2-0 win has been changed.

The home side will still be punished by loss of points if crowd violence influences the outcome of a match, but the victims will not receive extra points.

Ruggeri paid off

SPANISH league champions Real Madrid agreed to pay off Argentine World Cup defender Oscar Ruggeri and signed international midfielder Luis Milla from Barcelona.

Ruggeri's departure was forced by the signings of star Romanian midfielder Gheorghe Hagi and Yugoslav defender Pedrag Spasic.

Under Spanish soccer rules a club can field only three foreign players, and with Mexican striker Hugo Sanchez and Ruggeri already on the books the club had to sacrifice one.

Real chairman Ramon Mendonza did not disclose the compensation terms for Ruggeri but said it was "a figure much lower than that stipulated in his contract". Ruggeri played one season for Real, who bought him from Logrones.

A total of $4 million was paid for the early release of Milla from Barcelona, who had wanted to keep him for the last year of his contract.

The 24-year-old international has been embroiled in a pay dispute with Barcelona's Dutch coach Johan Cruyff, who kept him on the bench for most of last season which in turn prompted Spanish coach Luis Suarez to leave him out of the World Cup squad.

Real Madrid will pay Milla $3 million.

The Madrid club also said it received $5 million from Italian club Torino as compensation for star Spanish midfielder Rafael Martín Vázquez's move there.
